GREAT BRITAIN.

THE ERIE STOCKHOLDERS—PROPOSED REORGANIZATION—INUNDATIONS IN DEVONSHIRE—DEATH OF PROMINENT DIVINES.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Erie bondholders have appointed a Committee of Consultation to prepare a scheme for the reorganization of the company, which they are to submit at a future meeting.

The weather to-day is tempestuous. Recent rains have swollen the rivers and streams in Devonshire, causing inundations. The loss is considerable. Torquay, Teignmouth, and Dawlish were flooded, and much damage was done to property.

Rev. William Edward Jelf, B. D., is dead.

The death of Very Rev. Walter Farquhar Hook, D. D., F. R. S., is also announced.

CHINA AND GREAT BRITAIN.

BETTER OBSERVANCE OF COMMERCIAL TREATIES PROMISED BY CHINA.

SHANGHAI, Oct. 20.—Mr. Wade, the British Minister, has informed the foreign Legations that while negotiating at Pekin he insisted upon a better observance of treaties by the Chinese, especially with regard to taxation of trade. China promised to institute an inquiry and prepare a report as a basis for further negotiations. No new trade convention, however, was contemplated, as none could be operative that was negotiated by a single Minister. All the foreign representatives must join in such negotiation. It is expected that Mr. Wade will shortly return to Pekin.

FRANCE.

SPEECH OF M. ROUHER IN CORSICA—SEVERE DENUNCIATIONS OF THIERS AND MACMAHON—DEATH OF PROF. WHEATSTONE.

PARIS, Oct. 20.—M. Rouher made a speech at Ajaccio on Saturday last. It is of such an aggressive character that its publication here will possibly be prohibited. He made an attack upon ex-President Thiers and the Orleanists, accusing them of having blocked up all the avenues to power. He censured President MacMahon, and said since the 24th of May, 1873, when the Marshal was chosen President, he had incurred heavy responsibilities. M. Rouher declared that the revisionary clause of the Constitution remained intact. The Bonapartists, he said, are in favor of universal suffrage, and would contend for an appeal to the people in order to give an expression of the national will.

It is stated that the Mayor of Ajaccio has been dismissed from his office for having taken part in the banquet yesterday, at which M. Rouher made a speech.

Prof. Wheatstone died in this city to-day.

GERMANY.

THE APPEAL IN THE CASE OF COUNT VON ARNIM—THE BAVARIAN MINISTRY AND CHAMBERS.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—A special dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Berlin says Count Von Arnim's appeal was heard to-day. The public interest in the case was slight and there were but few spectators in the court-room. Count Von Arnim was absent. After argument the Judges withdrew for deliberation.

BERLIN, Oct. 20.—In the matter of Count Von Arnim, the Supreme Court has indorsed the verdict of the Kammergericht. The Count is to pay the costs.

MUNICH, Oct. 20.—The King of Bavaria has refused to accept the resignation of the Ministry, which was recently tendered, because of an adverse vote in the Diet, and expressed his approval of their conduct. He also refuses to receive an address subsequently voted by the Chamber of Deputies.

RUSSIA.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN RUSSIAN POLAND—SEVERAL LIVES LOST AND 3,000 PERSONS MADE HOMELESS.

LONDON, Oct. 20.—The Jewish World says 200 dwellings, synagogues, and schools in the town of Widsy, Russian Poland, have been burned. Some persons perished and 3,000 are homeless.

PERU.

THREE-QUARTERS OF THE TOWN OF IQUIQUE DESTROYED BY FIRE.

HAVRE, Oct. 20.—A telegram has been received here from Valparaiso announcing that a terrible fire has taken place at Iquique, Peru. Three-quarters of the town are said to have been destroyed.

GREECE.

SAILING OF THE PRINCE OF WALES FOR THE EAST.

PIRÆUS, Oct. 20.—The British steam-ship Serapis, with the Prince of Wales and suite on board, sailed from here to-day for the East.

CENTRAL AMERICA.

GUATEMALA, HONDURAS, AND NICARAGUA EXTENDING THEIR COMMERCIAL FACILITIES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Information received at the Treasury Department from George Williamson, our Minister at Guatemala, is to the effect that the Congress of Costa Rica has passed a law declaring Port Limon, on the Caribbean Sea, a free port, and offers inducements to immigrants to that section by permitting public lands to be acquired at a nominal rate, and allowing manufactories of rum and tobacco to be established in that part of the State for domestic use or foreign export without payment of duties.

The Government of Costa Rica has also recently entered into a contract with the Royal Mail (British) Steam-ship Company, to make monthly trips to Port Limon. Minister Williamson says there seems to be a disposition on the part of the Governments of Guatemala, Honduras, and Nicaragua, to increase their facilities of communication on the Caribbean side. The Government of Guatemala is trying to make a contract with the West India Auxiliary (British) Company, to touch once a month at the port of Santo Tomas, in the Gulf of Honduras. It has a large number of laborers under the charge of its highest military officials, at work on the road to Santo Tomas, which the Prime Minister says will be completed in time to forward articles to our Centennial by that route. It has also sent an agent to the United States to buy a steamer to navigate the River Motagua, which empties into the Bay of Honduras. The Government of Honduras has leased its railroad from Puerto Cortez to San Pedro, to two parties with extraordinary privileges. Minister Williamson concludes his letter as follows:

"These facts seem to indicate a present disposition on the part of all the Governments, except that of Salvador, to obtain facilities of communication through Caribbean ports. No doubt this is in part due to the revival of old ideas, and in part to what is understood to be dissatisfaction with the high rates of the Pacific Mail Steam-ship Company. Should the plans succeed, and trade be partly turned in the lines of the new communications, the result cannot fail to be beneficial to our country. If our countrymen choose to avail themselves of their proximity, San Francisco, I think, would not lose anything, and our great commercial cities on the Atlantic and the Gulf ought to increase their trade with Central America very considerably. Should the communications be opened and kept open, it is likely immigration will be invited, without which, in the judgment of all impartial minds, native and foreign, in these countries, their progress must continue to be very slow."

DISTRIBUTION OF APPOINTMENTS.

TREASURY POSITIONS TO BE FILLED FROM THE DIFFERENT STATES ACCORDING TO POPULATION — THE PRESENT INCUMBENTS AGITATED ABOUT IT.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—The law passed last Winter, under which the Treasury Department was reorganized, contained a proviso that after Jan. 1 next the appointments shall be so arranged as to be equally distributed between the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia, according to population. To obtain the information necessary to give effect to this provision, a circular containing a list of questions to be answered was to-day distributed among Treasury officials, each being required to state his legal residence, date of appointment, &c. The distribution of the circular has produced great consternation among officials from those States which are most largely represented.

During the debate in the House on this provision it was stated that Massachusetts had more appointments in the Treasury Department than any other three States. An examination of the rolls shows that the District of Columbia has also a very large representation in this department, and if a distribution be made in accordance with the law, a large number of persons from the District of Columbia, Massachusetts, and two or three other States will be discharged, and their places distributed among States which now have few appointments. In the slaughter that is expected the District of Columbia will be the largest sufferer.

JUDGE WOODRUFF'S SUCCESSOR.

JUDGE ALEXANDER S. JOHNSON, OF UTICA, APPOINTED TO THE CIRCUIT JUDGESHIP.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—Judge Alexander S. Johnson, of Utica, N. Y., has been tendered the Circuit Judgeship made vacant by the death of Judge Woodruff, but no response has yet been received from him.

Judge Johnson is a native of Utica, the son of the late Alexander Bryan Johnson, and is about fifty-seven years old. He studied law with Charles P. Kirkland, now of this City, and formed a legal partnership here with the late Judge Hurlbut. Subsequently Judge Johnson was in partnership with Mr. Southmayd, now of the firm of Evarts, Southmayd & Choate. In 1852 he was elected a Judge of the Court of Appeals, and held the position till 1860, residing during that time in Albany. Since 1860 he has lived in his native city. In January, 1873, Judge Johnson was appointed a Commissioner of Appeals by Gov. Dix to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Ward Hunt, and in December of the same year he was made a Judge of the Court of Appeals in place of Judge Peckham, deceased. His term to the latter position expired Dec. 31, 1874. He received the Republican nomination to fill the remainder of the term, but was defeated last year. The circuit includes New-York, Vermont, and Connecticut.

LYNCHING IN ARKANSAS.

PROMINENT CITIZENS SHOOT A ONCE CONVICTED MURDERER WHO HAD BEEN GRANTED A NEW TRIAL—HISTORY OF THE MURDER.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 20.—The Sheriff of Arkansas County left Dewitt, the county seat, on Sunday morning last in charge of two prisoners, a colored man named Carrigan, who had been sentenced to the Penitentiary at this place, and was on his way here, and a white man named Dugan, who had been sentenced to be hanged for the murder of Ahab Inman, a year ago. The decision in Dugan's case was reversed by the Supreme Court, and the prisoner remanded back for a new trial. The prisoner's counsel obtained a change of venue to Monroe County, and he was on his way to be delivered to the Sheriff of that county at Clarendon. The party arrived at St. Charles, on the White River, about 4 P. M. on Sunday, and about 9 o'clock at night, while waiting for a boat, a band of masked men, all well-armed, numbering twenty-two, made their appearance, and took charge of the Sheriff and his posse and the prisoners. The prisoners were bound together, and were seated in chairs before the fire. The band then fired upon Dugan, killing him instantly, and then departed. They are supposed to be leading citizens of Arkansas County.

The circumstances of the killing of Inman by Dugan were of a revolting character. Inman had married Dugan's daughter some time before the murder, and the two, while in town, had some words, but came to an amicable understanding before they started for home. While on the road Dugan dropped back to the rear and fired into Inman, killing him instantly. He then took the body and threw it into the White River. A few days afterward it rose and lodged against a snag. Dugan took the body, cut it in two, tied a cast-iron plowshare to one half, and filling the dead man's clothes with sand tied them to the other half and sunk the severed body in the river.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

THE VANDALIA AND THE INDIANAPOLIS AND ST. LOUIS ROADS TO POOL THEIR EARNINGS INSTEAD OF CONSOLIDATING.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 20.—Instead of the consolidation of the Vandalia and the Indianapolis Railroads, as intimated two or three days ago, it has been agreed to pool their net earnings. The roads will maintain separate organizations, but the net earnings will be divided in proportion to the value of the stock and capital employed in running the roads. William Boyd, Receiver of the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad, and E. Triggs and James H. Stebbins, from Paris, France, representatives of the foreign bondholders, have arrived here for consultation looking to the restoration of the roads to the companies.

ACTION OF THE BONDHOLDERS OF THE EUROPEAN AND NORTH AMERICAN RAILROAD.

BANGOR, Maine, Oct. 20.—The conference this evening of the land-grant bondholders and of the floating-debt creditors of the European and North American Railroad adopted the following: That the road be placed in the hands of the Trustees of the consolidated mortgage bonds; that the land-grant bondholders refrain from foreclosure: that enough overdue and accruing coupons be funded for ten years to prevent the sacrifice of property; also that coupons be summarily funded to provide for $100,000 in notes on the Piscataquis Branch, and that the City of Bangor's first mortgage coupons be paid in full. The committee of the bondholders will report at a meeting of the latter on Monday afternoon.

THE SALARIES OF THE GRAND TRUNK RAILROAD OFFICIALS REDUCED.

MONTREAL, Oct. 20.—The English Directorate of the Grand Trunk Railroad has ordered a reduction of the salaries of the staff all round, from managers down, and the practicing of greater economy in the different departments.

THE NATIONAL RAILROAD CONVENTION AT ST. LOUIS.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Oct. 20.—Matters relating to the National Railroad Convention, to be held here Oct. 23, are rapidly approaching completion. Letters from Gen. Beauregard, Gov. Porter, of Tennessee: Gov. Beveridge, of Illinois: Hon. M. C. Kerr, of Indiana, and other prominent gentlemen in different parts of the country, have been received, all speaking most favorably of the enterprise in view. All the roads centring here will reduce the fare one-half, and it is expected that many roads further away will do likewise. Complimentary invitations will be sent to all members of Congress.

THE EX-CONFEDERATE SURGEONS.

OFFICERS FOR ANOTHER YEAR—REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 20.—The meeting of the Association of ex-Confederate Surgeons was enlarged this morning by delegations from North Carolina, Alabama, and West Virginia. It was resolved that all surgeons and physicians who served in the Confederate Army in any capacity be admitted to membership. The constitution and by-laws proposed at Atlanta last year were adopted. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Hunter McGuire, Richmond, Va.; Vice President at Large, Dr. Henry F. Campbell, Augusta, Ga.; Vice Presidents, Drs. J. J. Chisholm, Maryland; J. H. Claiborne, Virginia; S. S. Satchwell, North Carolina; Middleton Michel, South Carolina; James Read, Georgia; E. T. Sabal, Florida; J. B. Gaston, Alabama; S. V. D. Hill, Mississippi; Samuel Chapin, Louisiana; D. R. Wallace, Texas; Samuel F. Eve, Tennessee; D. A. Linthicum, Arkansas; B. M. Wible, Kentucky; G. M. McDonald, West Virginia; W. L. Coles, Missouri. Secretary, John M. Payne, Richmond, Va. Treasurer, W. W. Parker, Richmond, Va. In the election for President, Drs. Moore and McGuire were opposing candidates, but the result being a tie vote, Dr. McGuire having voted for Dr. Moore, Dr. Moore in the chair cast his vote for Dr. McGuire, thereby electing him. After full discussion it was decided that officers should be chosen annually, and that the association should not be permanently located here. An invitation was received from the Southern Historical Society for the association to avail itself of the archives of that society and to use its rooms for the deposit of its medical papers.

On motion of Dr. J. G. Cabell, of Richmond, Va., it was resolved that the President be authorized to appoint a committee to collect the facts in regard to the medical and sanitary history of Andersonville Prison and of all prisons and hospitals established by the Confederate authorities for the safe keeping and treatment of Federal prisoners.

The committees and essayists appointed last year were continued, and requested to report at next annual meeting. Dr. Edwin D. Newton, of Athens, Ga., suggested that the medical order and letter books of the Army of Northern Virginia and of the Army of Tennessee, the former by Medical Director Lafayette Guild and the latter by Medical Director A. J. Foard, both now deceased, be published by the association, and the matter was referred to the Executive Committee. To the same committee were referred the time and place of next meeting.

THE PRESBYTERIAN SYNOD.

THE SYNOD DECLARES AGAINST THE "GREY NUNS ACT" OF THE LAST LEGISLATURE—FINANCIAL CONDITION.

From Our Own Correspondent.

POUGHKEEPSIE, Wednesday, Oct. 20, 1875.

The first regular business of the Presbyterian Synod of New-York was opened at the Presbyterian Church in this city at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning, having been preluded by devotional exercises of half an hour's duration. The Clerk read the following letter, to which importance is attached by the synod:

COHOES, N. Y., Oct. 14, 1875.

DEAR BROTHERS: The Synod of Albany, in session at Albany, yesterday, passed the following paper, and directed me to send a copy to you:

Whereas, The Legislature of this State, during their late session in May, passed an act authorizing the Sisterhood of Grey Nuns to confer diplomas upon the graduates of their seminary, entitling them to a certificate from the Superintendent of Public Instruction to constitute them qualified teachers in the common schools of the State: therefore,

Resolved, That this synod deem all legislation specially favoring any particular religious sect, or giving whatever authority to any ecclesiastical body in regard to our public institutions of instruction, is contrary to the spirit and interests of those institutions.

2. That we, the members of this synod, as citizens of the State of New-York, having its educational interests in view, do most earnestly deprecate and respectfully protest against such action of the Legislature as the ends and objects of our normal school system and the prosperity of our public schools.

3. That the next Legislature be respectfully requested to reconsider and rescind the aforesaid enactment as an act of justice to the people of this State.

4. That a committee of five be hereby appointed to consist of Drs. Darling, Upson, and Robinson, with I. P. Boyd, M. D., and Clark Potter, Esq., who shall be authorized to present this matter before the next Legislature and the Governor of this State, in order to secure the rescinding of the act aforesaid.

A similar document was sent in from Canandaigua, and both referred to a committee, who reported in favor of the resolutions, whereupon the following committee was appointed from this synod to appear before the next Legislature: S. I. Prime, D.D., editor of the New-York Observer; William Howard Crosby, D.D., of New-York; William K. Hall, Newburg; Hon. G. W. Lane, of New-York, and Edward Wells, of Peekskill. The feeling in the matter is very strong, and members are bold and outspoken in their opinions.

The question of fixing upon a place for the next meeting of the synod being taken up, the members voted to go to Sing Sing.

The synod next took up the benevolent work of the Church. The reports are, in a good many instances, discouraging. For home missions there has been an increase of contributions of $43,000 over 1874, but there is still a deficit of $13,000, in addition to $11,000 due the missions. The present deficit is $19,000. For foreign missions, on Oct. 1 the contributions were $195,000, the missions being then $38,000 in debt, and by Spring the committee thinks it will be $100,000 in debt. Last year the synod gave $95,000 toward this object, and this year, thus far, but a little over $20,000 has been received.

So far as the benevolence of the synod is concerned, 167 churches of 34,000 members have given this year $373,000, an increase of $66,000 over 1874, being an average of $10.88 per member. All of the Presbytery donations have fallen off this year except those of New-York and Westchester. The committee's report closes with important hints and suggestions as to the future course of the synod in the benevolent work of the Church. The report of the committee was accepted and discussed at length.

THE PENNSYLVANIA TREASURY INVESTIGATION.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—The special committee of the State Legislature appointed to investigate the affairs of the State Treasury met to-day in this city. Three sessions were held, but the subpœnas sent to Treasurer Mackey and ex-Treasurers McGrath, Kemble, and Irwin to attend and testify were not responded to, and consequently no testimony was heard. Another meeting will be held to-morrow morning. Chairman Reighard made a statement, in which he said the failure of the ex-Treasurers to attend the sessions is construed by the committee as a confession that the charges made against them are well founded.

THE GUIBORD BURIAL.

MONTREAL, Canada, Oct. 20.—The men of the Prince of Wales Rifles have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for Friday night, and imperative instructions have been issued that every man be present. The object of this sudden call is not fully known, but it is generally surmised that it has connection with the Guibord burial. Mr. Doutre, in an interview to-day, stated that he had not yet fixed the day for the burial of Guibord.

REV. MR. PENTECOST'S CHURCH.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The Warren Avenue Baptist Church having stricken out that portion of the Declaration of Faith which makes immersion a prerequisite to communion, it is considered certain that the Pastor, Rev. G. F. Pentecost, will remain in charge. The church is 125 years old.

SUICIDE OF A GIRL.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—Carrie Holmes, aged twenty-one years, committed suicide by drowning at Barnstable last night. She had been sick some days, and last night left her bed in her night-clothes, went to the wharf, and threw herself into the water. Her body was recovered to-day. She was a highly accomplished young lady.

THE CANAL INVESTIGATION.

THE LORD CONTRACTS EXAMINED.

THE CONTRACTS AT BLACK ROCK HARBOR—COMPLICITY OF THE STATE OFFICIALS—A CANAL APPRAISER IN THE PAY OF FRAUDULENT CLAIMANTS — CRIMINAL NEGLECT OF COMMISSIONER FAY.

The Canal Investigating Commission have made a "seventh report" to the Governor, devoted to their examination of the Buffalo contracts. The main features are given below.

THE LORD CONTRACTS.

The consequences of the gale on the lakes, the gravity of which is nowhere so manifest as in the magnitude of the legislative appropriation made to Lord for repairing them, furnished a pretext for passing another act "for protecting the Erie Canal from the encroachments of Lake Erie," by extending the Black Rock breakwater southward from the entrance of Black Rock Harbor to the Erie Basin, a distance of one mile, and appropriating the sum of $75,000 for the purpose. A contract for this work was let on the 6th of August, 1870, to Charles P. Skinner, who, on the 7th of the following month, assigned it to George D. Lord. Lord agreed to perform the whole work for $45,600, but the contract, not proving as remunerative as was expected, or interfering in some way perhaps with other arrangements which were more so, was abandoned, and on motion of John D. Fay, then Canal Commissioner, was canceled on the 24th day of June, 1873. The work done up to that time was estimated to the contractor at $1,292. The Legislature of 1873 made an additional appropriation for this same work of $25,000, and on the 14th of October, 1873, a contract was let to Clark & Bennett to complete it for the gross sum of $60,720. It was not completed for that amount. An additional appropriation of $40,000 was made for continuing it by the Legislature of 1874. Under color of this contract, however, the contractors have already been allowed the sum of $151,133, which is more than ninety thousand dollars in excess of what their contract entitled them to, and over eleven thousand dollars in excess of the amount actually appropriated for the work, and it is still less than half completed. At the past rate of expenditure, this "improvement" will cost the State over three hundred and seventy-five thousand dollars, for no part of which have we been able to find any good excuse.

On the same day that Skinner took this contract for extending the Black Rock breakwater, Aug. 6, 1870, he took another contract for deepening and improving the narrow canal in Black Rock harbor for $45,300; and on the same day, the 7th of the following month, that he assigned the first, he assigned the second contract to George D. Lord. Jarvis Lord and William Mudgett were their sureties. By the terms of his contract this work was to be finished before the 1st of April, 1871. On the 1st of August, 1871 another contract was awarded to Edward W. Williams for "crib and vertical wall," and cutting bend or projection in towing-path on guard-lock section at Black Rock, and cleaning out mouth of mill-race leading from the harbor at lower Black Rock to mills of Thornton & Co. and others, for $18,251. Williams was only an instrument of George D. Lord, to whom he assigned this contract, in which he held only a nominal interest, within ten days after it was awarded to him. The sureties were William Mudgett and George D. Lord himself. As these two contracts related to a continuous piece of work, and as George D. Lord was the proprietor of both, we shall henceforth speak of them as his. The work done by Lord under them consisted in deepening some 6,400 feet of the old canal prism, the construction of 1,826 linear feet of crib work and about 1,550 linear feet of dry vertical wall and about 1,000 linear feet of vertical retaining wall in cement. The walls last mentioned were so badly founded and composed of such inferior stone and so badly laid that large sections of them had already fallen when we visited them in the Spring, and others were bulged and must soon be rebuilt from the foundation. The other vertical wall was very much distorted, and of a quality below that required by the specification. For the work above named, which constituted but a very inconsiderable portion of the work covered by these contracts, Lord received $72,707 06, and then asked the Canal Board to cancel his unfinished contract. Mr. Fay was again his advocate, and made a report in favor of releasing him, and on the 6th of August, 1872, this contract also was canceled. But this application was not made by Mr. Lord, nor was it yielded to by the Canal Board, until after the Legislature had passed an act virtually authorizing the cancelation. This makes the seventh contract connected with these local Buffalo improvements which Lord has made the pretext for a successful application to the Legislature for relief.

AN ACCOMMODATING COMMITTEE.

Under the act just referred to the Canal Board appointed a committee, consisting of John C. Robinson, Thomas Raines, Daniel Pratt, S. H. Sweet, and James Jackson, Jr., to take proofs and ascertain to what extent, if any, the work referred to in the act had exceeded in cost the amount the contractor had received for it. The committee assembled at the Delavan House, in Albany, on the 12th day of March, 1874. On the 19th day of March they reported that they had taken proof of the expenditures and the amount paid by the State, and found that the actual cost of such work, as by the evidence and vouchers, was $191,915 55; that the contractors had been paid on account of said contracts $72,707 06; and that the excess of expenditures, over and above all payments, was $119,208 49, to which sum they decided that the claimant was entitled. This report was confirmed by the whole board on the day it was presented. The only witnesses examined were Frank Lord, brother of the claimant; J. F. Behn, who had been Assistant Engineer and afterward Division Engineer in immediate charge of the work; John D. Fay, who was Canal Commissioner during its progress, and Oliver Cornell, a workman, who was or had been a workman of the claimant's. Of these witnesses, Cornell seems to have been called merely to give the proceeding a little more the air of an examination, his testimony not furnishing the basis of any estimate or calculation; of the other witnesses the claimant's brother, Frank Lord, was practically the only one whose testimony the Commissioners seem to have taken into consideration, as will appear by a simple statement of the results which their testimonies respectively establish. According to John D. Fay's testimony, the value of that portion of the work done under the Williams contract over and above the amount previously paid on account of it, was $20,724 01, and according to Behn's it was $20,659 32, while according to Frank Lord's statement it was $59,180 73. For improving the narrow canal, under the Skinner contract, Fay's estimate of the corresponding excess was $33,031 17; Behn's $35,509 43, while according to Lord's statement it was $60,027 66. Fay's estimate therefore, on both contracts in excess of the sums previously paid thereupon, amounted to $53,755 18, Behn's to $56,168 75, while Lord's statement amounted to $119,208 49, or to precisely the sum awarded to his brother by the Canal Board. The estimate made by the two officers of the State was rejected, while the testimony of the brother of the claimant asserting an expenditure of more than double the amount, was accepted.

AN OFFICER PAID BY THE STATE AND BY CLAIMANTS AGAINST IT.

On this occasion Mr. Thaddeus C. Davis (Canal Appraiser) seems again to have confounded his official relations to the State with his professional, personal, and financial relations to Mr. Lord. The testimony, or at least a considerable part of it, is in his handwriting; he drew the award; the certificates for the award, when it was made, were delivered by the Auditor to him as the attorney or agent of George D. Lord. Subsequently he was employed by Lord to negotiate the sale of them, failing in which he was employed to collect them from the Canal Department, where there were as yet no funds available for their payment. For this service, in which Davis, by some process not susceptible of an altogether satisfactory explanation, was successful, he says, as yet he has received no compensation, but that he proposes to claim for it $5,000, and to sue Mr. Lord for the amount if he should refuse to pay it. Why Mr. Lord should have employed Mr. Davis to collect these certificates, instead of addressing his application directly to the Auditor in person, and why he should consider his services in procuring the payment of a lawful debt from the State worth $5,000, or why, if an unlawful one, he should have any advantage over Mr. Lord in procuring it with the Canal Department, and why, when the funds were not available, this award should have been paid with such unusual and prompt alacrity, are questions upon which Mr. Davis, on his examination, appeared unable or unwilling to shed any light.

AN OVERLAPPING CONTRACT TO COVER THE CANCELED ONE.

On the 30th of August, 1873, and only a few days after Lord's contract was canceled, the Board of Canal Commissioners made a contract with Edward B. Van Duzen for "deepening and improving the canal, from slip No. 3 to York street, and thence to the head of Black Rock Harbor, and including the deepening and constructing a division bank or crib work through the narrow part of said harbor, extending thence to the broad part of said harbor, about 1,200 feet below the Ferry Street Bridge, in the City of Buffalo." This contract embraced besides the work covered by the Skinner-Lord contract just canceled, an extension of the division bank or crib work some 1,200 feet further below Ferry Street Bridge. Van Dusen's bid for this work amounted to $124,500. On the 21st of the following January, Van Dusen asked the Canal Board to cancel this contract also, after an expenditure of less than $10,000, upon the pretext that the discharge from the sewers of Buffalo into the portion of the canal he was required to drain, imposed upon him unforeseen expense. Mr. Van Dusen's remedy for this sewer-drainage into the canal was against the City of Buffalo, if anywhere, and not against the State, and though nothing whatever had occurred to invalidate his contract, or diminish his responsibility for executing it, the Canal Board, on the motion of John D. Fay, Canal Commissioner, granted his application.

ANOTHER OBLIGING STATE OFFICIAL.

Without waiting for the action of the Canal Board, however, Van Dusen, on the 12th of February, abandoned the work. Mr. Fay, the Canal Commissioner, immediately, and without any interruption of it, took charge of the work, under the pretext of having it ready for Spring navigation, and in the course of four months expended the sum of $79,507 38 out of a fund which had been appropriated by the State for the prosecution of this work, only under contracts to be let to the lowest bidder. By the terms of Van Dusen's contract it was the duty of the Canal Commissioner to have collected his $79,000 of expenses on his work, if they were necessary, from Van Dusen himself. The Commissioner not only failed to make this reclamation, but when the question came up for final decision in the Canal Board in June, and after the money had been spent, Mr. Fay himself moved that Van Dusen's application for the cancellation of his contract be granted, and by his own vote discharged Van Dusen, so far as it was possible for the Canal Board to do so, from his liabilities to the State for this money, without exacting any forfeiture or making any deductions as for work done on contractor's account. The testimony of Mr. Fay on this subject reveals a disregard of the rights and interests of the State on the part of the Commissioner verging, at least, upon criminality. It will be for the law officers of the State to decide whether, by the action of the Canal Commissioner and of the Canal Board, as described in this testimony, the State has actually parted with any of its rights of reclamation against Van Dusen, and, if so, whether his responsibility has been transferred to others or is wholly extinguished.

HOW FAY VICTIMIZED THE STATE.

The work upon which Van Dusen and Fay thus obtained from the State Treasury $89,477 66, was confined to the excavation of earth and rock and the draining and bailing incidental thereto. After making the amplest allowance for the work done and the material furnished by Van Dusen before abandoning the contract, and by Fay after it, we find the sum of $65,034 78 to have been paid for this work by the State over and above its value, at the prices fixed by the contract. This sum may be regarded as the very lowest measure of the damages which the State has sustained by the action of Mr. Fay in releasing Van Dusen, should it be held that the Canal Board had the power to release him at all.

THE BOGUS CONTRACTOR'S ROLE.

On the very day that Mr. Fay accomplished the release of Mr. Van Dusen—the 24th of June, 1873—the Canal Board authorized, and, on the 26th of July following, the Board of Canal Commissioners let, a contract to Henry J. Mowry, who was merely a locum tenens of Van Dusen, "for the deepening and improving the Erie Canal, from Slip No. 3, in the City of Buffalo, to the head of Black Rock Harbor, and for deepening and widening the canal through said harbor and constructing the division bank therein, and other work connected therewith, so as to make the canal separate and independent of said harbor to the extent authorized by the Canal Board, and covered by the existing appropriations therefor." The amount at which this contract was let was $252,245. The amount of available appropriations was $253,000. This contract covers all the work embraced in the Van Dusen contract, and only differs from it in extending it to the extremity of the Black Rock Harbor, or so far as the appropriation of $252,245 would go toward such improvement. Before any work had been done under it by Mr. Mowry he, or his principals, rather, sold it to Clark, Bennett & Co., of Buffalo, for a premium of $15,000. When Mr. Douglas, of the firm of Clark, Bennett & Co., was asked to whom he paid this $15,000, he answered to Van Dusen. It would appear from the testimony that though Mr. Van Dusen was released from his first contract through the friendly intervention of Mr. Fay, he was still interested in a contract for the prosecution of substantially the same work at much higher prices, and finally received the generous premium of $15,000 for whatever portion of his interest he sold to Clark & Bennett.

DAVIS AGAIN SELLING THE STATE.

The Legislature, May 9, appropriated $170,000 more to complete the Black Rock work. When it became apparent to the contractors, Clark & Bennett, that owing to the gross underestimate of quantities by the Division Engineer, the original appropriations would be exhausted before the work was more than half done, they addressed themselves to Thaddeus C. Davis, of Buffalo, of whose services one member of the firm, at least, had had frequent occasion before to avail himself, to procure the authority of the Canal Board for applying immediately the whole of this appropriation to their work. Their wishes prevailed, and Davis telegraphed the fact to Bennett, and also instructions that Bennett should deposit $5,590 to his [Davis'] credit in a Buffalo bank.

As the conduct of Mr. Davis, in this and other transactions developed before this commission, is now under investigation by the criminal courts of the City of Buffalo, it is unnecessary for us to express any opinion as to the statutory liabilities he may have incurred in his relations with Bennett & Co. and the Lords. We cannot, however, forbear expressing our conviction that it is a reproach to the State, that a man professing and habitually acting upon such loose notions of official duty should hold a position of such dignity and responsibility as that of Canal Appraiser. And yet, in this and our preceding reports, we have cited only a part of the transactions in which Mr. Davis appears to have prostituted his official position to private ends, as will soon more fully appear. The very next step in this history reveals one of them. The somewhat cursory examination of the Buffalo work, in April last, by this commission, sufficed to make it feel justified in notifying the Auditor of the imprudence of paying any more money on what was called the Mowry contract, until it had received more thorough investigation. The Auditor notified the contractors of this warning, whereupon the services of Mr. Davis were again invoked. Early in July a draft for $20,400, on account of this work, was presented, and notwithstanding the caveat of the commission, was paid by the Auditor into the hands of Davis, who sent his check to Clark & Bennett for $19,400, retaining the balance of $1,000, as was understood by Bennett, in compensation for his services. This $1,000 Davis claims to have refunded to Clark & Bennett. Auditor Thayer justifies his payment of the money draft for $20,400, in spite of the caveat of this commission, upon the authority of an oral opinion of the Attorney General.

The cost of the work done under this Mowry contract up to July 1, 1875, appears by the Engineer's estimates to that date to have amounted to $289,442 88. At the same rate of expenditure, when completed, it will have cost over $430,000.

RAPACITY OF OFFICIALS AND CONTRACTORS.

We have thus far been able to touch only upon the main features of work done of late years by the Canal Department in and about the harbor of Buffalo. There has been a great deal of money spent by Superintendents on "ordinary repairs," some of which we have, as yet, only partially investigated. What we have investigated, however, affords us no reason to suppose that the remainder reflects any more credit upon those who spent the money or upon those who received it. Both these classes, the agents of the State and the contractors, seem to have been animated by the single purpose of getting as much as possible from the Treasury, and if at any time they have manifested any forbearance, it appears to have been only upon the principle of not plucking the public goose so roughly as to make it scream. In no other way can we explain or account for the enormous sums of money which in the short period of seven years have been pledged or swallowed up in and upon the harbor of Buffalo, under the pretext of improving the canals, an amount considerably exceeding one-fourth of the original cost of the Erie Canal.

THE VAST EXPENDITURES NEEDLESS.

The whole object aimed at in constructing the division wall between Black Rock Harbor and the waters of the canal was to overcome the strong current caused by the withdrawal of water in immense volume to furnish motive power to several mills located upon the banks of the canal and harbor. These mills were never entitled to more than the surplus waters of the canal at this point. They have paid but little, and for many years no revenue to the State, and yet they are now using nearly four times the supply of water necessary for canal purposes, causing a current through the canal prism almost sufficient to stop navigation to upward-bound boats when the sluice-gates to the mills are open. There had been expended already on the Black Rock Harbor contracts and the Erie Canal protection contract prior to June 1, 1875, $677,778 93. For work since done and yet to be done to complete them there must be added $405,000 more, making an aggregate of $1,082,778 93. A careful examination of this whole work by our engineers has satisfied them and us that every purpose contemplated by the Legislature in authorizing these improvements, and every practical purpose that will be realized from their completion, could have been fully attained for one-fourth the expense actually incurred.

A CURIOUS TRANSACTION.

REMOVAL OF CAPTURED GAMBLING INSTRUMENTS FROM POLICE HEAD-QUARTERS BY COMMISSIONER SMITH—AN INTERESTING CORRESPONDENCE.

On the day before Police Commissioner Disbecker submitted his answer to the charges preferred against him by Mayor Wickham, it will be remembered that he sent him a communication which the Mayor positively refused to give for publication. When asked concerning its contents, Mr. Wickham said that it was merely on personal business, and did not relate in any manner to the conduct of the Police Commissioners, and added that he had sent it to the gentleman whose name was mentioned in it.

The missive, however, was made the subject of strange rumors, all affecting the Mayor and his friend Police Commissioner Smith, and they soon took a very definite shape. It was said that Gen William F. Smith had actually taken a large number of gambling implements from the Property Room at the Police Head-quarters, with the object of using them. People wondered why the facts were not given to the public by the Police authorities, as they did not, of course, expect to get them from the Mayor or Gen. Smith. A representative of THE TIMES obtained copies of the correspondence in question yesterday evening. It is as follows:

COMMISSIONER DISBECKER TO THE MAYOR.

COMMISSIONERS' OFFICE,
POLICE DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK,
NO. 300 MULBERRY STREET,
NEW-YORK, Oct. 13, 1875.

Hon. William H. Wickham, Mayor:

SIR: Last evening it came for the first time to my knowledge that on the 15th of June last Mr. William F. Smith, then a member of the Police Board, carried away from the offices of this Department, and has appropriated to his own use or the use of his friends, 480 gambling implements. Mr. Smith was careful in making his selections; he took the best that could be found, the value of the lot being, I understand, about $300.

Were I to fail in taking proper action as to this matter I would be culpably remiss in the discharge of my duty. Such an example as a Commissioner of Police appropriating property in the care of the Department and held as a public trust cannot fail to have a most powerful influence in demoralizing the force, a subject about which we have heard so much of late.

The evidence to substantiate this charge is forthcoming at any moment, and I may also be able to give you some evidence as to where those implements are now being used.

I submit the matter to you for your immediate attention. Respectfully,

ABM. DISBECKER, Police Commissioner.

THE MAYOR ANXIOUS FOR INFORMATION

EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT, CITY HALL,
NEW-YORK, Oct. 14, 1875.

Hon. Abraham Disbecker, Police Commissioner:

SIR: The Mayor has just received your communication, dated 13th inst., making charges against Police Commissioner William F. Smith, and has immediately referred it to that gentleman for attention and remarks.

The Mayor will be further obliged to you if, in performance of the offer in your communication made, you will promptly give him "some evidence as to where those implements are now being used."

Very respectfully,
BURTON N. HARRISON.

GEN. SMITH RETURNS THE PROPERTY.

COMMISSIONER'S OFFICE,
POLICE DEPARTMENT OF THE CITY OF NEW-YORK,
NO. 300 MULBERRY STREET,
NEW-YORK, Oct. 19, 1875.

Hon. William H. Wickham, Mayor of the City of New-York:

SIR: Yesterday Mr. William F. Smith returned to the Property Clerk of this department the gambling implements removed by him as explained in my letter to you of the 13th inst.

If this matter is allowed to rest as it is at present, I am satisfied it would have a very demoralizing effect on the members of the force. Your anxiety to remove all such demoralizing tendencies from the department would lead the public to expect, in this instance promt and immediate action on your part.

Very respectfully,
ABM. DISBECKER, Commissioner of Police.

It is alleged that the Mayor knows where the missing property was during its absence from Police Head-quarters, and that he has not the slightest idea of investigating the charges brought against Gen. Smith by Commissioner Disbecker. It is known that in case the Mayor should think proper to call for an inquiry into the affair, that he will be the first witness examined for the prosecution, and that his friend, Mr. William C. Whitney, the Corporation Counsel, will also be invited to explain what he knows as to the uses the missing faro chips were put to during their absence from Police Head-quarters. The entries in the book of the Police Property Clerk show that on the 15th of June last Gen. Smith took from Head-quarters a number of sets of gambling instruments, but shortly returned all except the set brought back under compulsion on the 19th inst. That was the most costly one of the lot. An anxious public waits for an explanation of the whereabouts of the missing faro checks during their four months absence from Police Headquarters.

THE WEATHER.

SYNOPSIS AND PROBABILITIES.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21—1 A. M.—The barometer has fallen over the lakes and thence to Missouri and Kentucky, with south-westerly winds, warmer, and clear weather; falling barometer, south-westerly winds, and warmer clear weather prevail in the Middle and Eastern States; stationary pressure and temperature, and north-easterly winds, with clear weather in Tennessee, the Gulf and South Atlantic States. The Ohio River has risen at Louisville, and the Allegheny has fallen at Freeport.

PROBABILITIES.

For the lakes, the Upper Mississippi, the Lower Missouri, and Ohio Valleys, falling barometer, south-west to south-east winds, warmer, partly cloudy weather, and possibly rain in Minnesota.

For Tennessee, the Gulf, and South Atlantic States, north-east to south-west winds, stationary or lower barometer, slightly higher temperature, and generally clear weather.

For the Middle and Eastern States low pressure, south-west to south-east winds, warm, clear and partly cloudy weather.

HARDWARE JOBBERS' CONVENTION.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Oct. 20.—The Western Hardware Jobbers' Association is now in secret session at the Grand Hotel, in this city. Delegations from all the prominent cities of the West and South-west are in attendance. Vice President John Nazro, of Milwaukee, presides.

THE ZETA PSI CONVENTION.

BOSTON, Oct. 20.—The twenty-ninth annual convention of the Zeta Psi fraternity began its session at the Revere House to-day. Nine colleges and universities are represented.

OUR PUBLIC WORKS.

HOW THE AQUEDUCT WORK IS DONE.

FITZ JOHN PORTER TELLS WHAT HE KNOWS ABOUT HIS DEPARTMENT—A RATHER POOR EXHIBIT—MR. JACKSON S. SCHULTZ GIVES THE RESULT OF HIS OBSERVATIONS ON THE BOULEVARDS

The Senate special committee held another session yesterday morning at the Fifth Avenue Hotel. Punctually at 11 o'clock Senator Booth took his seat. Commissioner Porter was already in attendance, and was immediately sworn. He testified that he had been in connection with the Public Works Department since the 1st of March. He said that he could hardly call himself a citizen of New-York City, though he had had a home there for many years. At the time of his appointment he was living at Morristown, N. J., and had been since 1872. He had voted there, and was employed by the Commissioners of the State Asylum for the Insane. He did not consider that an appointment, and his connection had ceased with his appointment in New-York as Commissioner of Public Works. This position made him responsible for the following bureaus: Croton Aqueduct, Sewers, Water Purvey and Registration, Repairs and Supplies, Street Improvement, Construction of Roads and Avenues, Lamps and Gas, Street Incumbrances. He was not able to give the number of laborers employed, but thought that in round numbers there were from 2,500 to 2,800. The plan used in employing labor was the same as he had found in vogue when he came—they were put on as they were wanted. For instance, on the boulevard or big pipes, if anybody came to him to ask him to put various men on the roll, they would be refused if the men were not wanted. The system of engaging them was what was known as the ticket system. If John Brown recommended Henry Smith, and the Commissioner employed him, the ticket directed to the chief engineer of the work would be given to the person who recommended Smith. In answer to the close questioning of Mr. Davenport, Commissioner Porter admitted that undoubtedly there were opportunities for abuse in this system, and that he had heard of tickets being sold. He said that he had received numerous letters on the subject, many of them from laborers, and that he had attempted to getat the facts. He had sent persons known to himself in the department to try and buy tickets, but in every case he had failed. Mr. Davenport then asked him if he could devise any system in lieu of the ticket system as at present administered, and he said he could not. If there were abuses he could suggest no way of putting a stop to them save by stopping the work. The counsel for the committee again asked whether it would not be an improvement upon the present system if the tickets were to be given to the applicants and not to the persons recommending them. Commissioner Porter thought it would, but was sure it would not altogether stop the sale of tickets if men were inclined to sell them.

The examination then went off to the subject of expenditures. The improvements now being carried on were the big pipes or the alteration of the aqueduct covering territory from Ninety-second street to One Hundred and Nineteenth street. There was a brick aqueduct running from those streets which had been replaced by iron pipes, and some alteration of grading had been necessitated to place these pipes in their permanent location. The work has so far progressed that the water is running through one set of pipes, and in a day or two would be running through another set. There were five sets to be transferred in all, and three remained to be done. After transfer the earth had to be packed in such a way as to show the presence of a leak if there was one. It was hoped that the whole of the work would be done before the Winter, so far as the Croton Aqueduct is concerned in it. The total amount authorized for the work by the statute of 1870 was $3,700,000, and of this there remained unexpended $248,600. This referred only to the work between Ninety-second street and One Hundred and Thirteenth, not to that between One Hundred and Thirteenth and One Hundred and Nineteenth, which was another matter. The brick aqueduct at the time he took charge had disappeared, all the rock excavation had been finished, and much of the earth excavation. He did not wish to say what proportion of the work was done, whether three-fourths or four-fifths, when he was appointed. Of the appropriation $190,390 had been expended from Jan. 1 of this year. He did not like to give his opinion as an expert as to the cost of the work completed before he took charge, nor was he able to give the committee any statement as to its stability or its character. He considered himself justified in saying that he thought it an expensive work.

The average number of laborers on the boulevards was about two thousand. They had been employed in putting in sewers along the line of the Eleventh Avenue Boulevard, and also in some improvements in pieces from Sixty-seventh street up to One Hundred and Tenth street. Almost all the work was being closed up, and in his judgment it would hereafter be better to give out the work to contractors than to do the work by day's work. This, he believed, would be the course pursued, but he had an objection to change violently the system which he found in vogue when he came into office. There were some things in favor of the day labor system. The material used was cheaper, being purchased by competitive bids—far less, that is, than it had been in former years. There could be no doubt that the contract system was expensive to the City in the past, from the fact that much of the work was done in an inferior way and the materials were inferior; many of the sewers, for example, were so badly done that fresh ones had to be put in; if the inspectors did their duty, of course there would be no such defective work; personally he had inspected the work along the whole line of the work once a week, sometimes driving, sometimes on foot, when nobody knew who he was; these visits were continuous from the time he assumed the control; he had been compelled to remove foremen for non-attention to their work, but could not remember the exact number of removals; the records would show some of these, but not all; in a great many cases the work was done satisfactorily, and generally, he might say, it was fair; he was inclined to believe that every man who was on the pay-rolls was at work, and fairly, but none of them would work for the City as they would for contractors; the cause of this was undoubtedly that the foremen did not keep them to it; they ought to be kept to their duty by the inspectors, and the latter by the Superintendent, Mr. Kellogg; he had never heard of foremen having been arrested for drunkenness while on duty, but he did know that he had dismissed foremen for drunkenness; the sewer inspectors and inspectors of sewer-connections were generally masons, and very intelligent men; but he did not require of them any certificate as to their being masons, and was ignorant that there was any law in existence requiring it; he certainly thought it was a good rule, and knew no reason why it should not be adopted; in many of the cases the men were known to be masons, and came recommended as such; those occupying prominent positions were known to be such.

Here Mr. Davenport asked the witness if he knew any inspectors named James Hughes, John Glass, and John Coburn, of all of whom he was profoundly ignorant. He knew that Moore & Gavis were the contractors for cleaning and repairing sewers, but was quite ignorant that Moore had the sobriquet of "Rocky", or that he was largely instrumental in getting tickets. He knew that he was a brother of Senator Moore. The keeper of the aqueduct at Tarrytown was Fernando Wood, Jr. He did not recollect that the removal of Mr. Palmer, the previous keeper, was due to anything save the political influence of Fernando Wood, Sr. There was no complaint against Mr. Palmer that he recollected. Many of the changes were made at the time he was appointed, and though he did not remember the individual facts, he remembered that the general reasons for the changes were satisfactory to him. He knew that Gen. Eagan was keeper of the aqueduct at Dobb's Ferry, and that his services and conduct had been exemplary, but he did not remember to have heard that he was under indictment for serious offenses committed in another employment. Six keepers had been changed, and he admitted that none of them were removed for changes. Mr. Tracy's consent, he did not consider, had been one of form, as he felt sure that if he had thought any of those changes would have been prejudicial to the City's interests, he would not have agreed; and the same thing was true with regard to Mr. Tracy's successor.

Mr. Davenport questioned the witness as to any improvement he had introduced into the Department of Public Works. Commissioner Porter replied that he could not think of any, save in the purchase of materials, which he thought was done closer than before. When he entered upon his duties he found an excellent system prevailing, which he had closely adhered to. The foremen were appointed by the Deputy, who also appointed inspectors. They were in some cases not mechanics, but he did not think that was any detriment to a proper fulfilment of their duties. There were things, doubtless, that might be improved, but he did not think it wise to jump from one system to another, and as he had said before much of the work was nearly finished, and in the future the day system would be abandoned. The contract system, he wanted it to be understood, would not be by public advertising, because that brought them a class of contractors whom they did not want. He had issued private invitations to twelve or fourteen firms to make bids, and he would pass upon these bids himself. This was for gate-houses in the upper part of the City. The appropriation of $500,000 was to be expended in different parts of the City, some in the upper part, some in the lower. Some of it was to be expended in laying large pipe down Church street. He had heard it stated that some of the Board of Aldermen objected to the appropriation, on the ground that it was proposed to do the work by day-work and not by contract. It was intended to do some of it in the upper part of the City by day-work, but that was all. The Board of Estimate and Apportionment had given the sum of $100,000, in lieu of the $500,000, on Tuesday, and the work for which it was given will be commenced on Thursday. It was laying 20-inch pipe from Forty-second street down to Twenty-ninth street and up to Fifty-second street, and the men would work night and day. That job would be done by day-work, because there was no time for a contract.

Mr. Davenport then questioned him about the teams employed by the City. He (Porter) had no knowledge of one man having fifteen teams, and said that if he had it was surreptitious and unknown to the officials. In excavations a distinction was made between rockmen and laborers. There was no method by which the department could tell if an applicant was a rockman other than the recommendation. They were paid more than common laborers, and the latter could not do the work until they had been trained up to it. The masons were paid on an average $4 per diem, though they went as low sometimes as $3 25. He had no knowledge that in many cases more men were employed than could advantageously be used. The expense of laying a culvert was $200. It was done by Moore & Gavin. The necessity of a new culvert was based entirely upon the report of the Superintendent of Sewers, Mr. Toul. The expense under his régime was about one-half what it had been under his predecessor, and he considered this was due entirely to the falling off in labor and materials.

In answer to Mr. Davenport's request that he would suggest to the committee any improvements which might be introduced with advantage to the department, Commissioner Porter recommended for the purchase of materials a system of competitive bids to furnish materials at a given rate for three months, and to renew these at the expiration of that date. Also, he would suggest a mixed system of private contracts, and also day-work, believing that while the former was the cheaper, the latter was the safest in important work. And he was also for the abolition of public advertising. He also recommended cash bonds for sureties, as was the custom in Boston and some other large cities. Mr. Davenport's next question was as to the amount of estimates for the next year, which he stated to be considerably larger than the present. And his final question was as to the number of employes now in the department who had been in it under Mr. Tweed. Commissioner Porter answered that there were some fourteen or fifteen, and that they were thoroughly competent men, and essential to the carrying on of the department. None of them were appointed by him, however. This closed Commissioner Porter's examination.

TESTIMONY OF JACKSON S. SCHULTZ.

Mr. Jackson S. Schultz was the next witness. After being sworn he testified that it had been his practice to visit the line of the boulevards from the commencement of the big-pipe work; he had visited it continuously, and had made it a rule to observe in every gang who were working and who were not; twenty-five per cent. were working and the rest were idling; he had observed them from Ninety-second street to One Hundred and Twelfth street, from the year 1870, when the change commenced, up to the present time. He was then called upon for general suggestions as to increasing the efficiency of the Department of Public Works. He said that with regard to the laborers not only was there but a small percentage of workers, but moreover those who did work were strikingly poor and unskilled workmen, handling their tools as if they were ignorant of them.

With regard to the Coroners' Department, Mr. Schultz suggested that the Coroner should be appointed by the Department of Health, and not be chosen by public vote. He thought that perhaps the Health Inspectors, being medical men, would be proper for the work. He then read some remarks about the abuses of the Coroners' office and the manner in which black-mail was levied. He was then questioned about the institutions on the islands, and declared that the fault was that the keepers were a demoralized set of men, as criminal in every way as those whom they guarded. He did not think that the food was good enough, or that there was enough of it, and asserted that no man would reform until his belly was full. He had visited the institutions last month, and had never in fifteen years seen them in such a demoralized condition. Almost every one of the Keepers and Wardens was absent, and he reported the circumstance to the Commissioners. With regard to the question of hospitals in the lower part of the City, he stated that when the Park Hospital was abandoned the New-York Hospital established a hospital in Chambers street at No. 160. The place was formerly a station-house, and it was handed over to the New-York Hospital on the 1st of June. They had it fitted up with forty beds by the 4th of that month.

As to the matter of the Boulevards, Mr. Schultz stated most decidedly that if the political lazzaroni were to be quartered in the City as workmen, it would result in complete confiscation of all the property of individuals in the upper part of the City. He had known members of the Assembly to come down to the City and demand that certain men should be employed on the boulevards. If this thing were continued, no person who owned property could pay his assessments.

EVIDENCE OF OTHER WITNESSES.

This ended Mr. Schultz's testimony, and it was corroborated with regard to the boulevard workmen by Mr. William S. Macy, who had accompanied him on his tours of observation.

Mr. John H. Sherwood was the next witness, and testified to the same facts. Then he went to the question of assessments. The bill for sewering his lots in what was called Harlem flats was from $350 to $500, and he could get rich by doing all the rest at $100; the bare assessments for widening and grading and sewering on lots 25 by 100 on almost a barren waste were from $2,100 to $2,500; all these improvements were immensely ahead of the time; the work was done in the interest of politicians, who put workmen there as voters in their gang, and the keepers of grog-houses; not one property-owner in fifty wished for any such improvement; from Fifty-ninth street, on the west side, up to Harlem River, the assessments now made and to be called in for the next three years will completely annihilate those who have purchased at half the money down and the rest on mortgage; if comparisons were made between the Fourth avenue improvement work, and Commissioner Porter's work it will be seen that there is an enormous deficit in the latter. The one was ten times as costly as the other, and yet had been done in two years for less than $6,000,000. The other had cost $4,700,000, and had not been completed in five years. And, moreover, from the results of the costly water-pipe arrangements, as shown in the houses on Murray Hill, it was his belief that the whole thing was a sham. He had made up his mind to pay off the mortgages on his property, which were about twenty per cent., and then shut down upon City taxes and assessments, saying in short that he would give the land to the City rather than pay any more on it. He felt that the property-owners of the City were helpless, being absolutely at the mercy of the foreign and criminal elements that ruled New-York. The only practical relief was in the stopping of the immense works that were being carried on in places where there was no population.

The committee then adjourned until next Friday at the usual hour.

THE BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A meeting of the Commissioners of Education was held yesterday. The City Superintendent reported that he had directed an examination of all the corporate schools under the control of the Board of Education, in conformity with the State regulations. In all, forty-six schools had been examined. The whole number of pupils registered was found to be 10,724, of whom 8,651 had been examined. The teachers employed number 203, most of whom were unlicensed by any officer of the City or State. In all other respects the schools appeared to have been conducted in conformity with the laws of the State, including the provision with regard to sectarian teaching. The instruction and discipline were in some respects inefficient, but in the main the schools were well conducted. The evening schools, the report stated, had been inspected since their opening on the 4th inst. There were 15,724 pupils registered. The average attendance on the first week was 10,372, and for the second week, 10,651. The organization and classification of the schools were reported as generally good. One thousand nine hundred and thirty-five pupils had been admitted to the Evening High School. The returns from the day schools showed an average attendance of 100,751, being an increase over last year of 4,789. Mr. Mathewson presented a communication from the Principals of the schools, asking the board to reconsider its action of Sept. 15 on the subject of instruction in music in the public schools. It represented that it would impose additional labor on the teachers, for which they were ill-prepared, and that the appointment of musical directors, to whom the assistant teachers would be responsible, would interfere with their prerogatives. The document was referred to the Committee on Course of Studies. It was ultimately decided that the question should lie over, the By-law Committee amending the provision which would compel the special musical teachers now employed to go out of office on the 1st of November.

THEFT OF AN OYSTER SLOOP.

On the 25th of September a sloop laden with oysters, the property of William R. Fordham, of City Island, while anchored in Eastchester Bay, was carried off by some unknown thief. Notice of the theft was sent to the New-York harbor police, and shortly afterward Officer James Foley captured the stolen sloop in the waters of the North River, in possession of Henry Decker, a boatman of Red Bank, N. J. In the Court of General Sessions yesterday, on being called up for trial by Assistant District Attorney Bell, Decker pleaded guilty to grand larceny, and was sentenced by Judge Sutherland to two years in the State Prison.

LAW REPORTS.

THE CASE OF H. B. CLAFLIN & CO.

MOTION TO QUASH THE INDICTMENTS AGAINST THEM—ARGUMENT OF HON. WILLIAM M. EVARTS.

The indictments against the firm of H. B. Claflin & Co. and William H. Talcott, the buyer for the firm, for fraudulently receiving and concealing goods contrary to law, came up yesterday afternoon in the United States Circuit Court, before Judge Benedict, on a motion to quash them. At the opening of the case Judge Benedict remarked that the argument must be conducted with all dispatch, as he should only hold court till Tuesday next. Hon. William M. Evarts, who appeared for the defendants, stated that his argument would probably consume considerable time, but it was finally agreed with Assistant United States District Attorney Foster that it should be proceeded with at once. The indictment of October against the firm, excluding Mr. Donaldson, was chosen as the test indictment, Mr. Evarts remarking that he should make the same objections to the other three.

Mr. Evarts said that this was an indictment found by the Grand Jury in the May term against the firm of H. B. Claflin & Co., omitting the name of Mr. Donaldson. The counts were four in number. The first three were subject to the same criticism under the law and criminal pleadings, the fourth was of its own kind, and bad for additional reasons. The first count charged that they fraudulently received and concealed six cases of silk goods of the value of $30,000, contrary to law, &c.; the second was framed on the same model, but giving no more of the facts constituting the crime, and charged them with facilitating the transportation of certain goods, knowing that they had been brought into the United States contrary to law. The third count charged the defendants with facilitating the sale of these goods with the same guilty knowledge. The fourth was brief, but more general, charging them with fraudulently buying and selling certain goods above mentioned. The statute under which it was supposed the indictment was drawn was either section 4 of the act of July 14, 1866, Statutes at Large, or section 3,082 of the Revised Statutes, entitled, "an act to prevent smuggling," in both of which is defined the criminality attaching to the dealing in smuggled goods. The section 3,082, from the phraseology apparently was followed in the indictment. It was to the effect that should any person knowingly transport any merchandise into the United States contrary to law, such person should be subject to fine or imprisonment, and when on trial it should be shown that such goods were found in possession of the defendant, this evidence should suffice for conviction, unless satisfactorily explained. This well-known firm was brought criminally before the courts on an accusation of no more particularity than had been indicated. There was not in any count identification of any act, fact, or agency in any criminality, except that which named these men as being culpable in a respect which otherwise was not named. The importation was not mentioned in marks, ship, consignor, or consignee, or the primary facts constituting the crime made known. No one was named as having smuggled the goods, or as having illegally imported the goods, nor was the kind of silk goods given. There was no pretense of any act against the revenue laws. It was a mere imputation. It referred to six cases of goods, when hundreds of such entries would be found upon the books of a firm like Claflin's. Six cases of goods, in a house where 1,200 and 1,500 cases and packages are received and delivered each day, and it could not be unreasonable to demand that a man to be tried for the crime of another should know all the attending circumstances and thus enable adequate defense. In all criminal cases of murder or robbery, the law compelled that the defendant should be informed of all particulars. The criminality in the statutes named was wholly confined to dealing in smuggled goods, and without reference to such as had passed through the Custom-house, regardless of complaints of the Government of undervaluation, &c., but to goods entered in evasion of the Custom-house, brought into the country against the law to prevent this evasion. This was the section under which the defendants were inculpated; it had wholly to do with smuggled goods, a well-discoverable character in goods, possession of which unexplained was sufficient for conviction. Either the jurors had before them some evidence of smuggling, by some smuggler, upon some ship, at some date, of certain goods that were describable, or they had not. If they had, they must assign the information as to what and whose action it was by which the defendants were made culpable. If they had not, they had no right to bring these indictments. If they had no facts regarding these goods smuggled or clandestinely introduced from foreign parts into the United States, they had no right to bring any one into court because some one had done so, and the former might have the goods. The defendants were not charged with having been the smugglers, but of having the goods after they had been placed in the market. Certainly dealing in goods after they had passed through the Custom-house into the market the Government could not consider a crime, and it was hard that these defendants should be presented in this respect before the public as having committed some crime against the Government. It was but right that they should have that degree of precise knowledge that a crime had been committed that grew out of those particulars that constituted the crime. A case was never put before a Petit Jury unless the Grand Jury had previously passed on the evidence, and this made known to the defendants to allow of proper defense. Now it seemed that the District Attorney proposed to place before a petit jury that some one had violated the laws, and that some unmarked, undescribed goods had been found in the warehouse of the Claflins, and the possession must be explained, as they had been smuggled. The firm bought and sold $50,000,000 worth of goods each year, millions of dollars worth coming from France, and they demanded now when and where first occurred the crime for which they, as dealers in the market, were now held culpable. Mr. Evarts then read several legal authorities on the matter, and, the hour for closing the court having arrived, the case was adjourned until this morning.

MERCHANTS CHARGED WITH FRAUD.

A case is pending decision in the equity term of the Court of Common Pleas, before Chief Justice Daly, in which it is sought to set aside an assignment by F. H. Ward and David H. Ross, composing the firm of F. H. Ward & Co., of Eatonton, Ga., to the firms of J. J. Johnson & Co. and Cochrane, McLean & Co., of this City, on the ground that it was fraudulently obtained by them, and to recover $15,000 damages alleged to have been sustained by the assignment. The firms who are charged with having obtained the assignment were creditors of the firm of Ward & Co., and the plaintiffs in this suit are some six or seven other creditors of the firm in this City. They allege that Hall came to New-York to purchase goods, and that, in order to obtain credit, he made representations to J. J. Johnson & Co. that he was worth $30,000 above all his liabilities; that he formed a partnership with Ross, who was a clerk in Johnson & Co's. firm, and bought from Johnson & Co. and Cochrane, McLean & Co. several lots of goods on credit; that, shortly afterward, Johnson, acting for his own firm and that of Cochrane, McLean & Co. went to Eatonton and found the firm selling off these goods at auction, and, by means of threatening them with imprisonment, although their notes were not yet due, got from them an assignment of $15,000 worth of goods, which he sold for $9,000, thus securing the creditors he represented to the detriment of plaintiffs.

DUNCAN, SHERMAN & CO.

In Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, argument was had on an order to show cause why an order of arrest, obtained by Ferdinand Delray Longchamp against Duncan, Sherman & Co. should not be vacated. The allegations on which the order of arrest had been obtained were that on the 25th of June last plaintiff had deposited with defendants a draft on Pottier & Co. for 3,000 francs; that defendants collected it through Hottinguer & Co., their Paris correspondents, who passed it to defendants' general account; that the collection was made about the time of defendants' failure, and that notice of it was not received by them until after assignment.

Argument of counsel on both sides was heard, and Judge Lawrence took the papers, reserving his decision.

ASSIGNMENT BY A DRY GOODS FIRM.

Strauss, Lehman & Co., importers of dry goods, filed an assignment yesterday in the Court of Common Pleas for the benefit of their creditors, whom they expect to pay about forty per cent. of their claims. Their liabilities, assets, and debts are all set forth in the schedules on a gold basis. Their liabilities are $399,745 48 and assets $194,031 04. Their principal creditors are in Manchester, Bradford, and Huddersfield, England, to whom they owe £66,974. Their chief creditors in New-York are Morris Tuska, to whom they owe $31,804, and Hallgarten & Co., whose claim is $17,448 76. Judge Loew appointed Morris Tuska Assignee, requiring him to file a bond in the sum of $100,000.

A DEMURRER IN THE CASE OF LAWRENCE.

Of the indictments against Charles L. Lawrence, in the United States Circuit Court, one charges him with having forged the name of F. L. Blanding to importers' bonds and oaths of entry. To this indictment a demurrer was entered by his counsel, S. G. Clarke, which was argued yesterday before Judge Benedict. The argument was based upon the supposition that the indictment was founded on section 5,421 of the Revised Statutes of the United States, and which it was claimed had no application in this case, and, as there was no other affecting it, the court had no common law jurisdiction. In answer Assistant District Attorney Foster stated that the counsel had been misled; that the indictment had been found in accordance with section 5,418 of the Revised Statutes, and while Mr. Clarke's argument was very conclusive so far as the former section was concerned, it was at fault with reference to the other. To allow of the preparation of another brief, the motion was postponed.

THE "RING" PROSECUTIONS.

THE PEOPLE'S SUIT AGAINST THE WATSON ESTATE—GARVEY ON THE WITNESS STAND—$650,000 TO BE RECOVERED.

The hearing of testimony in the suit of the people against the estate of the late James Watson, County Auditor under the "Ring" régime, and through whose complicity with the thieves Tweed, Ingersoll, Garvey, and others were enabled to secure their plunder, was continued yesterday before the Referee, Murray Hoffman, at his office in Pine street. Among the notabilities present were James H. Ingersoll and Andrew J. Garvey. The people were represented by Mr. Peckham, and the defendant, Mrs. Margaret Watson, by Mr. John H. Strahan. The suit is nominally for the recovery of $7,729,289 03, the whole amount claimed to have been stolen from the public treasury in the series of frauds perpetrated by the "Ring," but it really contemplates securing the restitution of only such a proportion of that sum as shall be established by the evidence to constitute Watson's share, by percentage, of the whole amount abstracted. This, it is understood, is nearly $650,000, and the prosecution is in fact but a formal one for the proving of the claim and the fixing of the amount, which it is understood the Executors of the estate have virtually agreed to pay over as soon as the sum has been legally determined. This easy method of securing the return of the public property is largely the result of the recent decision of the General Term of the Supreme Court, that the people are not to be required to furnish bills of particulars to the defendants in the "Ring" suits. This decision has swept so many obstacles from the path of the public prosecutors that the defendants feel very much like surrendering the spoils upon the easiest obtainable terms.

Andrew J. Garvey was the first witness examined. He testified that in the year 1869 he did certain work for the County and rendered bills to the County therefor.

Q.—Were there any differences made in the amount of those bills for division among other parties? A.—There was, Sir.

Q.—Who did you see in relation to that division? A.—The first instruction I received about my bills was from Woodward in the presence of Ingersoll; every series of bills that was made out I received instructions from Woodward and Ingersoll, and I was directed by Watson to do as they directed me and everything would come out all right; Watson was County Auditor during all of that time; I got the warrants in the treasury from Woodward; he went to Watson's office, and brought the warrants and the vouchers—my bills—together, and took me to the private office of the Board of Supervisors; all the County bills that were so paid were audited by Watson as County Auditor, and stamped with his seal in red ink.

Q.—What took place at the Board of Supervisors' office? A.—Woodward would say to me, "Give me your check for so much"—naming forty per cent. of my bill, sometimes sixty per cent., sixty-five per cent., thirty-five per cent., or whatever the proportion was to be; he invariably had the figures and called the amount off, the figures being Watson's; I am familiar with Watson's figures and writing, and, besides this, Woodward on one occasion told me the figures were Watson's, saying, "They are all right; they are Jim Watson's figures;" then I gave Woodward my own private check, for the amount named, on the Broadway Bank, and he passed me the warrant for the amount named in my bill.

Q.—You made out and gave him your checks for the amount named by him, the percentage to be divided among the various parties? A.—I made out only one check for the whole amount of their percentage; I did not make the division myself; then Woodward and I went to the bank; I deposited the warrant to my own credit, and Woodward deposited the check I had given him; when he deposited my check, he drew his own personal checks for all the others, and the money was drawn.

Q.—Drawn in bills? A.—Yes; drawn in one thousand dollar bills; large bills; as large as they could get them.

Q.—I now hand you warrants Nos. 3,618, 3,619, and 3,620, made payable to the order of yourself as to the first one, the other two payable to R. J. Hennessey. They are dated Sept. 17, 1869, and are all indorsed by you, and I ask you whether they were paid to you on bills made out as you have stated, and the proceeds to be divided as you have described? A.—(After examining the warrants)—They were, Sir.

Q.—What proportion did you pay out of that by your own check to these other parties? A.—I was allowed forty per cent. for work and materials; they got sixty per cent. and all the interest.

Warrants Nos. 3,646 and 3,647, dated Sept. 20 and 23, 1869; No. 3,869, dated Oct. 13, made payable to one Panchard and indorsed by Garvey; No. 4,175, dated Oct. 28, payable to R. C. Cashman and indorsed by Garvey; Nos. 5,135 and 5,136, dated Dec. 17, payable to witness' order; No. 1,102, dated March 17, 1870; No. 4,096, dated Aug. 30; Nos. 2,687, 2,689, and 2,693, dated July 2, 1869; No. 2,707, dated July 16, 1869; Nos. 2,784, 2,785, 2,786, and 2,787, dated July 28, 1869; and No. 3,333, dated Aug. 4, 1869, were next handed to witness and the amount allowed to him on these, varying from thirty to forty per cent., was specified in each instance.

Q.—Did you have any conversation with Watson as to these percentages? A.—Yes; the percentage got to be so alarmingly high I began to be afraid something might come out of it, and spoke to him about it; he said it was no affair of mine, and that if I didn't want to do it I should lose the work; all I had to do was to do as Woodward and Ingersoll told me.

Q.—Did you ever make or give any proof as to the correctness of these bills? A.—No, Sir; nobody ever appeared before Watson or anybody else to certify their correctness; Connolly was Controller at that time; Tweed was Chairman of the Board of Supervisors and Woodward was Deputy Clerk of the board.

Oscar A. Smith, formerly book-keeper in the National Broadway Bank, was next examined and testified that he had kept the account of Tweed, Woodward and others in that bank; he was at present engaged with Mr. Taintor in the examination of the records at the Controller's office relating to the "Ring" frauds, and had made an analysis of the various claims presented by Garvey, Ingersoll, and others, and the division of the proceeds among Tweed, Woodward, Watson, and others in the proportion of their percentages. The witness then took up all the warrants drawn in Ingersoll's favor, to the identity and fraudulent character of which Ingersoll testified at the hearing before the Referee on Monday last; also the warrants concerning which Garvey testified yesterday, and showed the proportion paid out of each of them to Tweed, Woodward, and Watson, the percentage paid to Watson ranging from five per cent. and the interest on the principal of the claim to fifteen per cent. This having been concluded, a recess was taken until 3 o'clock P. M.

When the Referee at that hour resumed the hearing, the examination of Mr. Smith was continued as follows:

Q.—Have you figured up the amount of the claims upon warrants payable to Ingersoll that have been put in evidence, and if so, how much do they amount to? A.—I have, Sir; they amount to $466,482 50.

Q.—What was the amount thereof retained by Ingersoll? A.—It was $241,265 52.

Q.—Leaving a balance paid out of the whole amount to the others of how much? A.—$225,216 98.

Q.—Now, as to the Garvey claims or warrants and the amount paid out of them for division? A.—The Garvey warrants above enumerated amounted to $328,924 95, of which Garvey retained $142,530 03, and paid out for division among the public officers concerned $186,394 92.

Q.—Now as to the class of warrants known as Class "B," and which have been testified to by both Ingersoll and Garvey? A.—They amount to $382,342 28, of which Ingersoll and Garvey retained $145,462 67, leaving a balance for division paid on their checks to public officers amounting to $236,879 61.

A.—And the aggregate of these three several amounts which you find to have been paid to public officers? A.—Yes, Sir; that amounts to $648 491 51.

With this testimony Mr. Peckham announced that the case for the people rested, and the further hearing was adjourned until 11 o'clock this morning.

THE PLATT DIVORCE CASE.

The divorce case of Adalina Platt vs. Frank Platt came on for re-trial yesterday, in Part I. of the Court of Common Pleas, before Judge Larremore, on the simple issue of whether the defendant had, at any time during the months of January, February, March, April and May, 1870, improper relations with one Ella Robinson, in this City. Kate Green and Margaret Brown, servants, testified on behalf of the plaintiff, and evidence given by the defendant before the Referee was read. The jury, after twenty minutes' absence, found affirmatively on the issue presented to them.

A BROKER CHARGED WITH FRAUD.

John E. Sarle, of No 93 Wall street, who was formerly a member of the firm of L. W. & P. Armstrong, cigar importers, of New-Haven, yesterday, before Justice Otterbourg, in the Tombs Police Court, charged Stephen B. Babcock, a Custom-house broker, with misappropriating $1,847 96. Babcock was employed by Messrs. Armstrong in 1872 to attend to the payment of duties on goods imported by the firm. In this capacity he received from them $1,847 96, being the amount due on a certain importation. This sum, it is alleged, he failed to use as directed, and did not properly account for. He was held in $2,000 bail to answer.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 20—P. M.

The buoyancy and activity which characterized the transactions on the Stock Exchange yesterday were even more apparent to-day. The business reached the large total of 285,900 shares, of which 93,800 were in Pacific Mail, 64,700 in Lake Shore, and 63,000 in Western Union. Pacific Mail opened at 38¾, and, under an eager pressure to buy, rapidly advanced to 39⅝, the dealings being attended with considerable excitement. During the afternoon realizations caused a reaction to 38⅞, but the price quickly recovered, and at the close the stock sold at 39¼, a gain of ¾ ₽ cent. as compared with the closing quotation of yesterday. Lake Shore advanced 1½ ₽ cent., reaching 56⅞, but at the close reacted to 56¼@56⅜. Western Union rose from 74⅜ to 75¾, and closed at 75½. Chicago and North-western and Milwaukee and St. Paul advanced 1@1½ ₽ cent., the former rising to 36⅝ for the common and to 50¼ for the preferred, and the latter to 33¾ for the common and to 62⅜ for the preferred. In the late dealings prices yielded ¼@¾ ₽ cent. Union Pacific, which closed yesterday at 66½, advanced to 69¼, leaving off at 68½. Michigan Central advanced to 58¾, but closed at 57¾, against 57½ yesterday. The dealings in the other shares were moderate, and the improvement, generally speaking, ¼@½ ₽ cent. Missouri Pacific fell off from 14¼ to 13⅝, and rose subsequently to 14½. Late in the day, however, there was a pressure to sell, under which the price broke to 13. Investment shares were firm.

Money continues easy on the Stock Exchange, where borrowers are accommodated at 2½@3 ₽ cent. on call. The discount market, however, shows a hardening tendency, and prime names are quoted at 6@7 ₽ cent. The amount of national bank notes received at Washington for redemption to-day was $450,000.

The foreign advices reported a further withdrawal to-day of £152,000 bullion from the Bank of England, and the rate of discount in the open market at London up to 3⅜ ₽ cent., which renders an advance in the bank rate tomorrow to 4 ₽ cent., if not to a higher figure, quite likely. Consols and United States bonds were easier, the former closing at 94@94 1-16 for money, and 94⅛@94 3-16 for the account, and the latter at 103⅜@103⅝ for old 1865s, 107¼@107⅜ for 1867s, 104½@105 for 10-40s, and 103½@103¾ for new 5s. Erie advanced to 13½@13⅝ for the common, and to 29½@30 for the preferred. The sterling exchange market was heavy at a further decline. The leading bankers reduced their rates to $4 77 for 60 days' sterling bills, and to $4 81½ for demand, but most of the business was at $4 75¾@$4 76 and $4 80@$4 80½; one lot of £100,000 prime bankers' bills was sold at $4 76, less a commission. Commercial bills were quoted at $4 72@$4 74. Gold opened steady at 116½@116⅝, but afterward touched 116¼, and closed at 116⅜. The announcement that $498,000 coin and $23,500 bullion left San Francisco for this City to-day, and the sale of a million gold by the Treasury to-morrow, had the effect of weakening the premium. Cash gold was in better supply. The highest rate paid for its use was ⅛ ₽ cent. per diem, but the principal business was at 1-16@5-64, and at the close there were offerings at 1-32@3-64 ₽ cent.

Government bonds closed a fraction lower, in sympathy with gold. In railroad bonds a fairly active business was done, and the tone of the market was firm. The greatest change was in Union Pacific sinking funds, which advanced to 89, against 88 at the close yesterday. State bonds continue quiet. District of Columbia 3.65s were firmer, and advanced to 67@67¼. Tennessee new series declined to 46½.

ASHES—Pots selling slowly at $5@$5 50 ₽ 100 lb.; Pearls nominal.

COCOA—Has been quite dull, with Maracaibo quoted nominally at 26c.@30c.; Caracas, 14c.; Guayaquil, 9c.@10c.; San Domingo, 7½c.@8c., gold.

COFFEE—Dull; prices nominally unchanged.

COTTON—Has been rather more active, but at a reduction of ⅛c. ₽ lb. The demand has been mostly for spinning purposes....Sales were officially reported, for prompt delivery, of 1,283 bales, (of which 174 bales were on last evening,) including 250 bales to shippers, 833 bales to spinners, and 200 bales to speculators....And for forward delivery an active movement has been reported, with prices quoted variable, October closing steadily, November a shade firmer, and other options 1-32c.@⅛c. ₽ lb. lower....Sales have been reported since our last of 37,800 bales, (of which 6,800 bales were on last evening, and 31,000 bales to-day,) with 5,100 bales on the calls, on the basis of Middling, with October options closing at 14 3-16c.; November, 13 15-32c.@13½c.; December, 13 9-32c.@13 5-16c.; January, 13⅜c.; February, 13½c.@13 17-32c.; March, 13 11-16c.@13 23-32c.; April, 13⅞c.@14; May, 14 3-32c.@14⅛c.; June, 14¼c.@14 9-32c.; July, 14 13-32c.@14 7-16c.; August, 14½c.@14 9-16c. ₽ lb.

FLOUR AND MEAL—State and Western Flour has been more active. The demand has been mainly for shipping grades, mostly for the English markets, but, in part, for the West Indies, with prices quoted steady for desirable lines. The inquiry for other descriptions has been on a restricted scale, chiefly in a jobbing way, within the range, with rather more liberal offerings of medium and high grades. Sales have been reported since our last of 19,750 bbls. of all grades, including inferior to very choice No. 2 Flour at $4@$4 75; very poor to fancy Superfine and Western at $5 10@$5 60, chiefly at $5 35@$5 50; inferior to very choice Extra State, $5 60@$6, mainly at $5 80@$5 85; very choice to fancy do., $6@$6 50; City Mills Extra, $5 65@$7 50, mostly for the West Indies at $6 25@$6 75; poor to choice shipping Extra Western at $5 60@$6, chiefly at $5 85; round-hoop Ohio at $5 60@$6 for small lots and lines; poor to very choice Minnesota Extra, plain, $6@$7 85, chiefly at $6 25@$7 25, and patent at $7 10@$9 50, mainly at $7 65@$8, and trade and family Extras within the previous range. Of the sales were 9,350 bbls. shipping stock, mostly good Wisconsin and State Extras, in lines, and City Mills Extras, on the basis of our quotations....Southern Flour about steady, on sales of 1,100 bbls....Rye Flour more active at former figures; sales, 550 bbls., chiefly at $4 87½ for Fine to $5 40 for choice Superfine, with small lots of the latter at $5 45@$5 50, which were extreme quotations. ....Corn-meal in more demand at essentially unaltered figures; sales, 1,950 bbls., including 800 bbls. Brandywine at $4 15, afloat, 300 bbls. Prize Medal at $3 90, 450 bbls. Yellow Western, low grade, at $3 35@$3 50 ₽ bbl., and 400 bbls. Sour Western on private terms.

GRAIN—Spring Wheat has been quoted about 1c. ₽ bushel lower. In most instances on comparatively free offerings, leading to a fairly active business, chiefly for export, in good part in strictly prime old No. 2 Milwaukee and Chicago, in store. Winter Wheat has been more sought after, but at easier and irregular prices, with the main transactions reported in White Western, for shipment. Sales have been reported since our last of 271,000 bushels at $1 39 for choice No. 1 Minnesota Spring, afloat; $1 37@$1 38 for good to about prime do., car lots; $1 37 for prime new No. 1 Milwaukee Spring, afloat; $1 37 for new No. 1 Sheboygan, (4,200 bushels,) afloat; $1 33 for Nos. 1 and 2 Milwaukee Spring, mixed, afloat; $1 31@$1 33 for good to very choice new No. 2 Milwaukee Spring, afloat, the latter an extreme; $1 28 for choice old No. 2 Chicago Spring, (20,000 bushels,) in store, with $1 26 reported as bid for best new do., afloat; $1 22@$1 24 for new and old Milwaukee Spring, Nos. 2 and 3, mixed; $1 16@$1 22 for new and old No. 3 Milwaukee do., mostly at $1 22 for very good old, and $1 16 for ordinary new; $1 11@$1 15 for No. 3 Chicago Spring, car lots; $1 05@$1 10 for Rejected Spring; $1 45 for extra new White Michigan, (five car-loads,) afloat; $1 15@$1 30 for poor to about good new Red Western; and $1 43 for No. 1 White Toledo, (30,000 bushels,) to arrive for shipment.... Corn has been more confidently dealt in, mostly on export account, with prices quoted toward the close about 1c. ₽ bushel higher. The business has been mainly in sailing vessel Mixed Western, afloat and in store, chiefly afloat. Sales have been reported of 229,000 bushels at 70c.@71c. for sailing vessel new Mixed Western, afloat, mainly at 70c. early, but closing at 70½c.@71c. for prime, afloat, 70c. for prime do., in store; 70½c.@71½c. for do., car lots; 68½c.@70c. for steamer do., afloat; 71c.@72½c. for fair to choice new Yellow do., car lots, mostly at 72c.@72½c., afloat....Rye in moderate request for distilling, with 6,250 bushels State at 89c.@90c....Barley more active; prime to choice, especially Canada, scarce and held above the views of buyers. Sales have been reported of 7,600 bushels fair four-rowed State at $1; 11 000 bushels four and six rowed do. at $1 05; 10,000 bushels four-rowed do., here, and 10,000 bushels do., to arrive soon, on private terms, quoted as within the range of $1 08@$1 15; strictly choice White Canada West quoted at $1 30 ₽ bushel....Of Barley-malt, 2,500 bushels new four-rowed State sold at $1 25, cash....Of Canada Peas, 5,000 bushels, in bond, sold at $1@$1 02 ₽ bushel, part to arrive....Oats have been in active demand for local trade account, at a further improvement of fully ½c. a bushel, closing firmly. The inquiry has been almost wholly for good to strictly prime, especially Mixed Western. Sales have been reported of 104,000 bushels at 48c. for prime new Mixed Milwaukee, afloat; 46½c. for prime new Mixed Chicago, afloat, closing with this price bid; 38½c.@45c. for unsound to about good new Mixed Western, car lots; 45c. for good new Mixed State, (6,000 bushels;) 47c.@51c. for new White do., car lots; 44c.@51c. for poor to very good new White Western, mostly at 48c.@51c. for fair to very good car lots; 36½c. for very poor new Mixed Southern....Hay, Straw, and Feed moderately sought after within the previous range....Stock of Grain afloat on the New-York canals to-day—1,843,394 bushels Wheat, 697,225 bushels Corn, 30,710 bushels Rye, 330,161 bushels Barley, 368,942 bushels Oats, and 5,000 bushels Peas.

NAVAL STORES—Rosin has been more active and firmer within the range of $1 80@$1 90 for Strained to good Strained; $1 90@$2 15 for No. 2; $2 60@$3 75 for No. 1; $4 25@$5 for Pale; $5 50@$7 50 for extra Pale and Window Glass, ₽ 280 lb.; sales, 3,500 bbls. COURT NOTES.

In the case in Part II of the Superior Court, before Judge Monell, in which Christian Kirchner, a baker in Morrisania, sought to recover $10,000 for injuries sustained by being thrown from his wagon on account of a hole in the road, a verdict for plaintiff for $429 was given yesterday afternoon.

Thomas Wilson, a boy of fourteen, who, on the 1st of last July, fatally shot Alphonso Guerago, a boy of twelve, through recklessly pointing a loaded pistol at his head, pleaded guilty to manslaughter in the fourth degree, in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, yesterday, and was sent by Judge Barrett to the House of Refuge.

Ernest Rasmison, charged with stealing $33 from John Edgren, in the liquor saloon No. 25 Greenwich street, was found guilty yesterday, in the Court of General Sessions, and sentenced by Judge Sutherland to four years in the State Prison. Lillie Lester, indicted for stealing $134 from George B. Pratt, of Syracuse, N. Y., a guest at the St. Charles Hotel, pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to eighteen months in the State Prison.

James McDonald, a teamster, was accused yesterday, before Justice Otterbourg, at the Tombs Police Court, by W. G. Smart, an agent of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, of having worked his horse an improper length of time without food. McDonald said he was a hard-working man, and frequently was obliged to go without food himself for an entire day. He was held in default of $500 bail to answer at Special Sessions.

In Part II. of the Court of Common Pleas yesterday, before Judge J. F. Daly, the administrator of Tone, a contractor, recovered a verdict for $9,666 against the City on a claim for curbing and guttering One Hundred and Twenty-third street, from Mount Morris to Eighth avenue. The defense was non-confirmment of assessment. Counsel for plaintiff asked for an allowance, and Judge Daly replied, "No, the taxes are too high this year."

Col. James E. Kerrigan was before Judge Lawrence, in Supreme Court, Chambers, yesterday, in obedience to the attachment issued to punish him for contempt, in not obeying the order of the Supreme Court to appear before the Police Board as a witness. He protested, through his counsel, that he had appeared, and that he meant no disrespect to the court. He was directed to answer by Friday written interrogatories touching his conduct, and a disposition of his case is to be made on that day.

In the Supreme Court yesterday, before Judge Loew, Mark Levy, of No. 52 Baxter street, who had taken out policies of insurance in five companies amounting to $7,000, obtained a verdict against one of them, the Metropolitan Fire Insurance Company of this City, for $1.75, the full amount claimed, in compensation for loss sustained by him from fire. This case was a test one for the other companies. The defense was an overvaluation of loss, and fraud on the part of Levy.

THE REAL ESTATE MARKET.

As was expected, the important auctions announced for yesterday, Wednesday, Oct. 20, at the Exchange, drew out an extraordinarily large attendance of buyers and others owning real estate in the City, and the greatest interest was manifested in the proceedings. The result of the day's business was more of a success than was hoped for, as property was sold to the value of $886,840 in the aggregate. The most important auction was that in charge of A. H. Muller & Son, at which 128 lots, mainly owned by Griffith Rowe, and the others by the Raynor estate and him jointly, were offered. In this sale the interest was kept up to the end, and the result can hardly fail to exert a healthy influence upon the market, for to a great extent it determines and fixes values. The prices ruled low, but were better than was predicted, and, for the times, we must say fair, while a greater number of lots were disposed of than was anticipated. The house on Fifth avenue, south-west corner of Forty-fourth street, was also sold by E. H. Ludlow & Co. Although the times are hard and business of all kinds depressed, it is a good omen for the future that investors can be found who have still confidence in New-York real estate and are willing to come forward and invest. The following is a review of the transactions of the day:

A. H. Muller & Son, by order of Griffith Rowe and the Executrix of the estate of William H. Raynor, deceased, sold forty-seven lots situate respectively on the avenues and cross streets east and west in the vicinity of Central Park for $608,750 in the aggregate. Nearly all these lots, we are informed, changed hands, and were bought by bona fide purchasers. The lots sold were all owned by Mr. Rowe, the sale of those in which he and the Raynor estate were interested being postponed indefinitely. A report in detail, with names of buyers, will be found below in the summary. Messrs. Muller & Son also sold, by order of Executors, the two-story brick-front house, with lot 25 by 80, No. 92 East Broadway, north side, between Market and Pike streets, for $8,600, to M. O'Brien.

E. H. Ludlow & Co., at an executor's sale to close the estate of William S. Blackington, deceased, sold the extra-sized four-story and basement brown-stone-front house, 28.4 by 70, (with extension,) and lot 125 feet deep, No. 528 Fifth avenue, south-west corner of Forty-fourth street, for $115,000, to I. V. Brokaw, of the firm of Brokaw Brothers, tailors, on Fourth avenue. The stable on West Forty-fourth street, 250 feet west of Fifth avenue, offered at the same auction, was withdrawn.

William Kennelly, by order of the Supreme Court in foreclosure, John J. Macklin, Esq., Referee, sold two plots of land located on the Grand Boulevard, one 102.2 by 166.5 by 102.2 by 173.7, on the north-west corner of Eighty-fourth street, and the other 102.2 by 180.10 by 102.2 by 173.7, on the south-west corner of Eighty-fifth street, adjoining, for $10,000 each over mortgages of $44,000, with interest from June 1, making the price per plot $55,195. Russell Sage, plaintiff in the legal action, bought the entire property.

James M. Miller, by order of the Superior Court, in foreclosure, Joseph Meeks, Esq., Referee, disposed of two three-story and basement brick houses, with lots each 16.8 by 100.5, situated on East Fifty-first street, north side, 185.8 feet east of First avenue, for $10,000 each, both of which were bought by T. Von Ellert, plaintiff in the foreclosure suit.

Richard V. Harnett, under a Supreme Court foreclosure decree, J. P. Ledwith, Esq., Referee, sold a three-story frame house, with lot 20 by 99 by 55.5 by 36 by 32.5 by 55, on Broadway, north-west corner of Sixty-eighth street, for $13,500, the purchaser being Samuel V. Hoffman, plaintiff. The same auctioneer, under a similar court decree, William Lindsay, Esq., Referee, sold three large plots of land situated on Union avenue and New street, near Glenn avenue, West Farms, Twenty-fourth Ward, for $900, the buyer being Andrew Ward, plaintiff. The property is worth ten times the price it sold for, but there was no competition.

E. A. Lawrence & Co., under a Supreme Court foreclosure order, J. P. O'Neill, Esq., Referee, sold a lot 25 by 98.9 with a four-story brick tenement house in front and a two-story brick house in rear, location on West Forty-first street, north side, 300 feet west of Tenth avenue, for $9,000 to John R. Planten, plaintiff.

Peter F. Meyer, also under a Supreme Court foreclosure order, Henry D. Purroy, Esq., Referee, disposed of a two-story frame house, with lot 25 by 100, on Ryer place, west side, 125 feet south of Irving street, Fordham, Twenty-fourth Ward, for $700, the buyer being William Wilkins, plaintiff. This property is said to be worth $2,000.

The following legal auctions were postponed, namely: Sale by B. P. Fairchild of a house and lot on Gouverneur street, north-west corner of Cortlandt avenue, Morrisania, Twenty-third Ward, adjourned to the 27th inst.; sale by Lawrence & Co. of a large plot of land on Barretto avenue, West Farms, Twenty-fourth Ward, adjourned to Nov. 3; sale by R. V. Harnett of a lot on Eighth avenue, south of One Hundredth street, adjourned to Nov. 5, and sale by William Kennelly of a house and lot on East One Hundred and Eighteenth street, west of Avenue A, adjourned to Nov. 10.

Jere. Johnson's sale at North Yonkers, Westchester County, was erroneously placed under Tuesday's heading. It takes place to-day.

TO-DAY'S AUCTIONS.

The sales noticed for to-day are again numerous and of importance, the list being as follows, all but the last two noted being at the Exchange:

By A. H. Muller & Son, public auction sale of the following valuable property: One four-story brown-stone-front house, with lot 21 by 100, No. 308 West Fifty-eighth street, south side, 142 feet west of Eighth avenue; one three-story and basement brown-stone-front house, with lot 16.8 by 100, No. 404 West Fifty-eighth street, south side, 100 feet west of Ninth avenue; one four-story and basement brown-stone-front house, with lot 20 by 50.3, on West Sixty-second street, north-east corner of Ninth avenue; one lot, 20.6 by 100.5, on West Fifty-eighth street, north side, 200 feet west of Eighth avenue; and lease of plot, 50 by 100, with two two-story brick buildings in front, one two-story brick house in rear, on Eighth avenue, west side, 50 feet south of Fifty-eighth street. The lease has has six years to run, the ground rent being $1,400 per annum.

By A. J. Bleecker, Son & Co., partition sale of choice City real estate as follows: One three-story and basement Nova Scotia stone front house, with lot 16.8 by 99.10, No. 330 East Forty-second street, south side, 325 feet east of Second avenue; one three-story and basement brick house, with lot 25 by about 80, No. 225 East Forty-seventh street, north side, 275 feet west of Second avenue; one four-story brick French flat house, with lot 19 by 95 by 27 by 74, No. 183 East One Hundred and Seventeenth street, north side, 111.6 feet west of Third avenue; one four-story brick store and dwelling, with lot 20 by 90, No. 1,054 Third avenue, west side, 40 feet north of Sixty-first street; one four-story and basement brown-stone-front house, with lot 20 by 70, No. 1,317 Fourth avenue, west side, 82.2 feet south of Eighty-sixth street, and one lot, 25 by 95, on First avenue, east side, 50.10 feet south of One Hundred and Tenth street. Also, similar sale of the four-story and basement brown-stone-front house, with lot 17.8 by 100, No. 414 Lexington avenue, south-west corner of Forty-third street.

By E. H. Ludlow & Co., public auction sale of the two-story frame house, with lot 25 by 100.5, No. 120 East Fifty-first street, south side, 225 feet east of Fourth avenue.

By D. M. Seaman, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, John A. Goodlett, Esq., Referee, of one house, with lot 16.8 by 100.5, on East Forty-fourth street, north side, 125 feet east of Madison avenue.

By S. A. Steele, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, J. P. Ledwith, Esq., Referee, of one house with lot 25 by 98.9, on West Thirty-ninth street, south side, 250 feet west of Tenth avenue.

By E. A. Lawrence & Co., Supreme Court foreclosure sale, John N. Lewis, Esq., Referee, of two lots, each 25 by 100, with improvements, on Benson street, north side, 150 feet east of Cortlandt avenue, Morrisania, Twenty-third Ward.

By Richard V. Harnett, Supreme Court foreclosure sale, William Sinclair, Esq., Referee, of a plot of land, 136 by 200 by 108 by 100 by 28 by 100, Madison avenue, west side, extending through to Washington avenue, 80 feet south of Marble street, Upper Morrisania, Twenty-fourth Ward.

By Jere. Johnson, Jr., at North Yonkers, Westchester County, on the ground, at 11 o'clock, public auction sale of 300 choice lots, situate respectively on Saw Mill Valley Boulevard, Arlington, Clarendon, and Beakeley avenues, Division and Fairmount streets, adjacent to the station of the New-York, Boston and Montreal Railroad. Free tickets for excursion train leaving the Grand Central Depot at 9:10 A. M., procurable at auctioneer's office, No. 21 Park row.

By Benjamin W. Hitchcock, at Flushing, Long Island, on the ground, at 2 o'clock, public auction sale of twenty-five choice lots, located in the business centre of the town, and situate respectively on Flushing, Main, and Amity streets, being a portion of the old well-known Leggett estate. Sale positive, without reserve, to close contract with Executors.

Ludlow & Co., Auctioneers, the following-described premises: "All that certain piece or parcel of land, with the dwelling-house and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying, and being at Harlem, in the Twelfth Ward of the City and County of New-York, at the north-easterly corner of Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a point on the easterly line of the Fifth avenue half way distant between One Hundred and Twenty-sixth and One Hundred and Twenty-seventh streets, running thence eastwardly along the centre line of the block between said streets one hundred and sixty (160) feet; thence south-westerly on a line parallel with the Fifth avenue ninety-nine feet eleven inches, (99 feet 11 inches,) to the northerly line of One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street; thence westwardly along the said line of One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street one hundred and sixty (160) feet to the north-easterly corner of the Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, and thence northwardly along the easterly line of Fifth avenue ninety-nine feet and eleven inches, (99 feet 11 inches,) to the place of beginning; and also all the right, title, and interest of the said Henry W. Genet and Marianna Genet, his wife, of, in, and to the land in front of said premises on said Fifth avenue and One Hundred and Twenty-sixth street, to the centre thereof respectively;" being the same premises conveyed to the said Henry W. Genet by Joseph Blumenthal, by deed dated the first day of August, one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and recorded in the Register's Office, of the City of New-York, in Liber 1,145 of conveyances, at page 680, on the 4th day of August, 1870.—Dated New-York, October 2, 1875.
FRANCIS LYNDE STETSON, Referee.
GEORGE OWEN, Plaintiff's Attorney, No. 237 Broadway, New-York City.

REAL ESTATE AT AUCTION.

AT AUCTION.—TWENTY-FIVE LOTS IN THE business centre of Flushing, Main and Amity sts., (Leggett Estate,) THURSDAY, Oct. 21 inst., at 2 o'clock, P. M., on the premises, without reserve, to the highest bidder, to close our contract with the executors. Terms, ten per cent. on day of sale. twenty-three and a third per cent. on Oct. 28, and balance on five and ten years if desired, the executors preferring mortgages on the property to cash payments. These lots are better for investment than deposits in any savings bank, and, as the times are hard, visitors may expect a chance for great bargains. One hundred and three trains daily to Flushing (every half hour), fare 7½ cents by two railroads. Seventeen dwellings, stores, and church built on same block within ten months past. Fare so cheap, no passes. For maps, apply to BENJ. W. HITCHCOCK, No. 355 Third av., corner 26th st.

AUCTION.—ASSIGNEE SALE, R. J. GARRETTSON, Auctioneer. I will sell at auction, THURSDAY, Oct. 28, 1875, 10:30 o'clock A. That Mr. BIGELOW has imposed upon some one abominably there can be no doubt. The Governor boasted that he had appointed a strictly non-partisan Canal Commission, consisting of two Democrats and two Republicans. Mr. BIGELOW was one of the Republicans. Did he, then, deceive the Governor? For now he states that for years past he has been a Democrat. Or did he deceive the Republicans when he assured them recently that he still belonged to their party. The mere emoluments of place are scarcely sufficient, one might suppose, to induce him to play this double game. And yet there is no greater strike in sight, for there is no gold conspiracy or "Black Friday" to help along just now. We must say, however, that when an opportunity of that kind did once present itself, Mr. BIGELOW made the most of it.

JOHN KELLY is cherishing the hope that the people will elect his District Attorney to office, and that then he will be able to get the managers of THE TIMES indicted as often as may suit his fancy. The arrangements for packing juries are already safely in his hands. When Judges see that he can place any of his creatures on the bench, they are likely to be very careful how they offend him. That is KELLY'S calculation, and perhaps it may turn out to be right. It all depends on whether the respectable voters of this City are prepared to elect this man to rule over them. They have a chance now, not only of disposing of KELLY, but of shattering that pernicious organization of which he is the head. We have shown them that he and TWEED are as like each other as two peas—brought up in the same sort of school, practicing the same arts, having received precisely the same kind of training for public life. Having overthrown TWEED, will they now choose his double? Is so great a disgrace to be inflicted on this City of New-York only four years after the people had purged it of one tremendous scandal?

There is nothing new under the sun. A few years ago the World was calling upon New-York to admire the "palatial mansion" and "regal stables" of TWEED. Now it describes in the same "superb English" the gorgeous library of JOHN KELLY. The famous Sunday punch-bowl has given place to the charms of literature. This is perhaps an improvement—but it would be a still greater improvement if the people's money, which furnished both "palatial mansion" and gorgeous library, had been allowed to remain in the people's pockets. By all means vote for KELLY and rascaldom, and down with honest Judges like Recorder HACKETT, and energetic public prosecutors like District Attorney PHELPS.

Gov. TILDEN has published another picture of himself in his favorite attitude of "Hercules." It may be very pretty, but Mr. TILDEN flatters himself grossly in regard to his legs, and altogether exposes more of his beautiful figure than is strictly necessary for campaign purposes. If Mr. TILDEN draws many more fancy portraits of this kind, we may soon expect him to appear before the public in Abyssinian full-dress costume, which is said to consist of a pat of butter on the top of the head.

The seventh report of the Canal Investigating Commission contains some rather suggestive revelations. Ex-Canal Commissioner JOHN D. FAY appears as the champion of several disreputable jobs in the Canal Board, and the members of that body are found so lately as March, 1874, voting with surprising unanimity in favor of giving GEORGE D. LORD some sixty thousand dollars more than even Mr. FAY thought him entitled to. Still worse is the transaction in regard to the VAN DUSEN contract, for which Mr. FAY appears to have been chiefly responsible. The Commissioners give it as their opinion that this job involved a manifest fraud upon the State of at least sixty-five thousand dollars. On the vote making the award, we find Messrs. SCRIBNER, HOPKINS, RAINES, and BARLOW voting in the negative. The report, as a whole, contains a good deal of matter which will demand prompt official action on the part of the Governor. Mr. SWEET is hardly the sort of person to retain in the position of State Engineer, any more than JOHN D. FAY is a proper person to be retained as Division Engineer, in view of evidence which casts very serious doubts upon their ability to render faithful service to the State.

The World attacks Senator CONKLING'S speech in a long article, but does not print a word of the speech itself. That is the way in which Democratic organs are obliged to do all their work. The World has a harder task than ever before it since SAMMY TILDEN'S new bargain with the Tribune. It is distressing to be obliged to do all the mud-throwing while a hated rival gets all the pay.

Last June Police Commissioner SMITH took from the custody of the Property Clerk a set of faro chips, gotten up in the highest style of the art, and valued at $300. On the Mayor's attention being called by Mr. DISBECKER, the other day, to what looked suspiciously like a case of larceny, the missing gambling implements were promptly returned. The question now arises where were the faro chips in use during the four months of their disappearance? Can Mr. WICKHAM shed no light on this point?

The testimony given before the Assembly Committee by HENRY C. ALLEN, formerly Assistant District Attorney, has received rather more attention than it deserves. One of Mr. ALLEN'S statements was disproved almost as soon as uttered. He said on Tuesday that, as the law is now administered, "it was absolutely impossible to obtain a verdict for murder in the first degree." A few hours afterward a jury in the Court of Oyer and Terminer found JACOB STAUDERMAN guilty of murder in the first degree, and he was next morning sentenced to be hanged. Not a single exception has been taken during the trial of STAUDERMAN, and the only obstacle in the way of carrying out the extreme penalty of the law in his case is one furnished by a political trick, for which Mayor WICKHAM and JOHN KELLY are responsible. The prisoner's counsel challenged the array of grand and petit jurors drawn by THOMAS DUNLAP, on the ground that he is not the legal incumbent of the office which he professes to hold. For this loophole of escape with which the perpetrator of a brutal murder has been supplied, the people have to thank their new "Boss."

Some seven millions and a half of City assessment bonds mature in November. As the assessments needed to redeem these are yet unpaid, they must be replaced by the issue of new bonds. Bids were yesterday received for eight millions and a half of the new issue, or a million more than is needed. These bear six per cent. interest, and are, of course, subject to taxation. The average rate of 102 is, therefore, indicative of a perfectly sound condition of the City credit. Let Boss KELLY and his friends get hold of the Treasury, and we shall have to report a somewhat different order of things.

Commissioner FITZ JOHN PORTER was yesterday on the stand before the Senate Committee of Investigation. He exhibited as thorough an ignorance of the working of his department as could be desired from the most ornamental of Tammany head-pieces. On one point he was perfectly clear, and that was that at the date of his appointment he was not a citizen of this State, and was, therefore, legally disqualified from holding civil office therein. About the water system of the City he knew as little as the laborers whom he employs on public works know about the tools they handle. His suggestions for the improvement of the methods of his department were nearly all bad. He wants the system of public letting of public work to be abolished, and he would like to restore that fertile source of corruption—the special contract system. By way of giving this system a fair start he had issued "private invitations" to twelve or fourteen firms to make bids for building gate-houses, and he proposed to pass upon these bids himself. Gen. PORTER'S extreme ignorance of the affairs of this City probably prevents him from knowing that this is simply a repetition of one of TWEED'S favorite methods of swindling the City. His master, KELLY, can hardly be so ignorant, and we shall probably find that some of the political supporters of the Boss will contrive to profit by this arrangement.

The Commissioner of Public Works had the hardihood to assert that generally speaking the work done by laborers in the City employ was fairly performed. He had made weekly visits along the line of the new boulevard, and found very little to complain of. Mr. JACKSON S. SCHULTZ, Mr. WILLIAM S. MACY, and Mr. JOHN H. SHERWOOD had used their eyes to somewhat better purpose. It was the unanimous testimony of these gentlemen that at no time could more than twenty-five per cent. of the men employed on big pipes and on the boulevard be found at work. They all testified to a uniform and systematic habit of loafing among City laborers, and to the consequent wholesale robbery of those who have to pay taxes and assessments. Gen. PORTER admits that he retains in his employ foremen who are incompetent and inspectors who do not inspect. A very slight sense of personal honor, not to mention official duty, would prevent him from holding for a single day a position in which he is, on his own confession, obliged to connive at the spoliation of the public. If he cannot control the appointment of his subordinates, he should resign. Failing that, he renders himself liable to criminal prosecution for the frauds perpetrated under cover of his authority. The whole testimony elicited yesterday gives a very instructive insight into the kind of "reform" which we have to expect at the hands of JOHN KELLY.

CHARACTER IN POLITICS.

We have heard a great deal of late years of the great value of individual character in politics. No one could estimate it more highly than ourselves, and we have frequently pointed out that there often occur times when the character of candidates is more important than their views, or the views of the party by which they are nominated. This was true in 1871 when the Republican Party in this State laid aside its partisan character, and supported the men whom it was reasonable to suppose would give the State reform, though many of those men were very strongly opposed to Republican principles in national affairs. A similar contingency often arises in municipal affairs; every good citizen must feel, for instance, that the retention of Recorder HACKETT at the post where he has so fearlessly and justly served the whole community is desirable, entirely independent of that gentleman's views on any national issue.

But while we are always ready to recognize the duty of securing good men in office at any proper sacrifice of partisan consistency, we believe that there is such a thing as character in parties as well as in individuals, and that in important elections this cannot be safely ignored. Parties are made up of individuals who, in the main, think or feel alike regarding some important object to be gained by combined action. That object may not be the one which is professed, but it must exist or parties would fall to pieces. It is not only reasonable, but necessary, to inquire, in all political contests of any magnitude, what are the views and sentiments which unite the members of each of the opposing organizations, because these, in the long run, will shape the policy of a party, whatever its platforms may declare, or whatever its leaders may profess.

Who can doubt, for instance, that there is some bond, and an exceedingly firm one, which holds the Democratic party together through all its apparent contradictions, or that this bond, whatever it may be, is sure to influence the action of the party in the strongest possible manner, whenever and wherever it gets control of governmental machinery. It would be difficult to believe that the tie lies in any agreement as to the matters which have engaged the attention of the public in late years, for there is not one of these of any consequence in regard to which Democrats have not made professions opposed to each other, either in different States or at different times. They were bitterly hostile to the war while the war was going on, and immediately afterward claimed to have been the only real friends of the Union. They fought the amendments to the Constitution at every stage, and undertook in various ways to annul them after their adoption; but now they profess to "accept" them in perfect good faith. They denied the power of Congress to make Treasury notes legal tender in time of war, and now they sustain its power to issue them indefinitely in time of peace, having meanwhile gone through a Presidential canvass on a specie payments platform. They were Protectionists in Pennsylvania and Free-traders across the border in New-York. They are inflationists in Ohio, and for hard money in Wisconsin. In the recent contest in the former State they ran a Prohibitionist on a "free-rum" platform, and united the "solid Roman Catholic vote" on a declaration against the Roman Catholic policy as to public schools. In our own State they profess to be the reformers par excellence, while submitting all their affairs in this City—where twenty per cent. of their votes are cast—to the control of JOHN KELLY, the pupil and partner of TWEED.

If we inquire what it is which unites the Democratic Party through all these and countless other similar inconsistencies, we find that it is an overweening passion for partisan success, regardless of the means by which it is attained. The Democratic Party is the natural home of the demagogue. Men who are willing to gratify their ambition without scruple, at the expense of principle and patriotism, find in that party a powerful political machine ready to their hands, which has for years been adjusted to such work. They are not embarrassed by their convictions, and are at liberty to change them or conceal them whenever the one supreme object of party success requires. Professions are but tools which can be taken up or laid down, as the exigencies of particular periods or the sentiment of various localities may demand. All that is essential for them is to bring themselves into "harmony" with the section of the party with which they are connected, or with the policy of the party generally for the time being. On these simple and, to the unprincipled, very easy conditions they may share whatever spoils and honors the party may secure, in proportion to their individual skill and energy. This bond of union in the Democracy has been rather rudely and not very accurately described as "the cohesive power of public plunder." It is not that exactly, because it unites many men who are not, and would not be, public plunderers with others who are, as it once united TILDEN and TWEED, and now joins TILDEN to KELLY. But it is a combination of unscrupulous ambition and blind partisan prejudice in various degrees, and it makes of the Democratic Party one of the most unsafe political organizations that ever existed in this country.

We by no means desire to deny that there is something of this same dangerous tendency in our own party. The Republican organization has not escaped the plague of demagogues, and they have some times done it, and the country through its agency, much harm. A party that has possessed favor for fifteen years could not hope to keep its ranks entirely clear of those who sought it from selfish motives. But we submit it to the candid judgment of the public whether these characters have not in the main been without special influence, and whether the party has not shown a remarkable capacity for getting rid of them. Those who incline to deny this would do well to run over in their minds the bright lights which have been extinguished in the Republican Party, and now shine, or are getting ready to shine, with renewed brilliancy in the Democratic household. If they will take the trouble to do this, we believe that they will admit that on a fair estimate of their respective tendencies, the character of the Republican Party is far superior to that of the Democratic Party.

THE CHINESE PUZZLE.

Nothing could more fitly illustrate the methods of diplomacy in China than the daily telegram which informs us that "negotiations are proceeding satisfactorily" between the Government and some foreign representative. Just now it is the British Minister, Mr. WADE, who is negotiating. Not long since it was the representative of Peru. Precisely what are Mr. WADE'S demands has never been divulged. It is only known that he has been dissatisfied with the shuffling manner in which the Chinese Government treated a request for the punishment of the murderers of Mr. MARGARY, and for pecuniary satisfaction to the members of his family. Mr. MARGARY was killed at the head of a commercial expedition while making his way from Burmah to the Province of Yunnan, in China. The Burmese do not relish the idea of giving upon their trade with the Chinese; and the Chinese, on general principles, object to the opening of any more trade routes across their frontiers. Both nations were interested in discouraging the expedition, and MARGARY was accordingly slain, and his comrades turned back in dismay. The Chinese Government, when addressed on the subject, pleaded ignorance of the whole affair. The Burmese King evaded the question by professing to be a vassal of the Emperor of China, and therefore incapable of discussing any matter in which that potentate had any part. The authorities at Pekin promised to inquire into the circumstances of the murder, and to send a special embassy to England, charged with the settlement of the dispute. Nothing has been done, though the British explorer was killed in March last. Like all Oriental diplomatists, the Chinese are prodigal of promises.

The right of foreigners to travel in the interior of the Celestial Empire has been grudgingly granted by the Central Government; but the provincial authorities, who are apparently stronger than the Imperial Court, steadily impede foreign trade and travel, and openly or secretly countenance all sorts of attacks upon strangers. The Government at Pekin, having formally granted and acknowledged free intercourse with the interior, neglected to give official notice of the concession. This was not because the Government was afraid of public opinion; there is no such thing as public opinion in China. The official publication of such a decree, however, would give foreign Governments a claim for indemnification when any of their subjects were abused, hindered, or maltreated by the mandarins, or by persons amenable to their authority. So long as the permission to visit all parts of the Empire was verbal, or expressed in vaguely-worded treaty obligations, the Chinese Government could evade responsibility for a practical embargo on interior travel. The final publication of an imperial rescript notifying the people that foreigners must be permitted to pass to and fro, without molestation, may be regarded as a concession reluctantly granted to the British Minister. But, under the Treaty of Tien-Tsin, the right of British subjects to visit the interior of the Empire, provided they carried a consular passport, issued at one of the open ports, already existed. A state of things which makes the exercise of a treaty right impossible is not to be remedied by any imperial proclamation. Foreigners will be no safer in the heart of China than they were before. The civil and military mandarins really govern the country. This hierarchy cannot be treated with, and cannot be met by any form of diplomacy. Civilized nations expostulate with the authorities at Pekin. Civilized explorers, travelers, and traders come in contact with the mandarins and their underlings. How difficult it is to secure justice where these interfere may be imagined when we observe that the murder of a British officer on the Chinese frontier, by order of a Chinese provincial official, many months ago, is to this day without explanation or apology.

Whether they will or not, the Chinese must sooner or later give up this exasperating system of delay. The advance of Western ideas is certain and irresistible. The passive, inert resistance which China makes to human progress must eventually break down, and the civilized world will look on with curiosity and some apprehension when the end comes at last. There is no Central Government, so far as outward appearances go. When France and England forced the gates of Pekin, in 1860, the ruling Emperor died of grief and rage. There has been no sovereign in China since then. Nonage has been the lot of the heirs to the throne, as it has been of the people. Two old ladies, dowager Empresses, have taken the reins of government in the name of minor heirs, who have come and gone. When the young man who had inherited the throne came of age, a year or two since, they stepped aside for a few months. He died mysteriously, and his young wife, who might have borne an heir to the Empire, speedily followed him. A baby Prince was adopted by the dowagers, who had meanwhile resumed the regency, and so, to this day, the Court at Pekin is practically closed to all comers. The Emperor is dead, or the Emperor is not of age; all business of importance is postponed for fifteen or twenty years. The only nominal head of affairs is LI-HUNG-CHANG, a sort of major-domo, who is as humble and deprecatory as Uriah Heep, but who hates the foreigner with an Oriental fervor. Exactly what part of the real Government this Prince may be, and just what power the two old women who secrete themselves in the Imperial Palace in Pekin may have, no man can tell. If an invading army should find the ports of a country wide open, the cities tenantless, the population vanished, and every form of property and material resource spirited away, the invader could not be more completely nonplussed than is the diplomatist who seeks for a responsible power at Pekin. It is all a mystery.

We can have little faith in the result of any negotiations with such a Government, however satisfactorily they may proceed. Christian nations have no hostile designs toward China. But, putting aside all question of casuistry, it is clear that this unique nation cannot much longer resist the advance of Western civilization. In one way or another, a war must come, unless a more vigorous and tangible policy obtains with those who direct the affairs of the Empire. Such a war could end in only one way. Chinese warfare, in spite of all native imitation of foreign tactics, is child's play to Europeans. An English army in the Celestial Empire would be as destructive as a modern ironclad could be with a naval fleet of the Homeric period.

PHOTOGRAPHIC LAW.

A Brooklyn photographer lately appeared in court bearing with him seventeen separate negatives, each purporting to be the portrait of one and the same young lady. She had come to his operating room and desired to be photographed. The photographer applauded her design, and promised to do full justice to her charming features. He placed her in his chair; inserted the prongs of the "head-rest" in her back hair; requested her to contemplate with rapturous admiration the optical bait which photographers pin upon the wall to catch the eyes of their patients, and then uncorked his camera. Whether the young lady smiled too soon and thus impressed upon her negative a series of concentric but entirely useless mouths, or whether she suddenly thought of a hated rival, and was thus betrayed into an unintentional wriggle whereby the negative was made to bear the image of a broad but nebulous maiden with features drawn out into horizontal lines, and with expansive hands furnished with dozens of faint and fat fingers, we are not told. When, however, the photographer emerged from the dark closet wherein he had poured out libations of nitrate of silver to the sun-god, he brought with him a picture which was found "unsatisfactory," and was compelled to offer to take a new one which should be more like the sitter, and less like a view of the nebula in Orion. Seventeen successive attempts did this patient photographer make to fix the features of his fair visitor upon the sensitive plate. Each time the result was alleged to be a failure. There was too little nose in one picture. In another, an excess of nose belittled the other features by contrast. In this one, the eyes were lacking in expression; in that, the mouth was out of drawing. Many of the pictures failed to do justice to the lady's chin, while others wore an air of hopeless resignation to the photographer's experiments which would have drawn a smile of derision from the severest of Cheshire cats. At least we may suppose that such were the complaints made by the young lady as she rejected each successive picture. When the seventeenth had been submitted and rejected, the long-suffering photographer declined to spend the rest of his life and chemicals upon so difficult a subject, and went to law to obtain some compensation for his wasted time and capital.

The decision in this case will be of much interest to persons about to be photographed. That process at present not unfrequently results only in vexation of spirit. If a satisfactory likeness is not obtained after two or three trials, the sufferer, uncertain of the law, and unwilling to incur the further scorn of the photographer as a person wholly devoid both of good taste and ordinary eyesight, consents to accept the least objectionable negative, and thus becomes the possessor of a collection of photographs capable of giving pleasure to the owner's bitterest enemy, and utterly unavailable for any other purpose. Should it be decided in the Brooklyn case that a photographer who has once undertaken to produce a satisfactory portrait can be compelled to make good his promise, even if it takes a hundred sittings, the path of his patrons will be plain. No man or woman will henceforth be compelled to hide in secret drawers, or to commit to midnight ash-barrels, photographs which are a misery to the owner, and which cannot be given away, except with a view of insulting the recipient. But, on the other hand, the decision which should thus protect the public might work serious injury to the photographers. A malicious photographer might ruin a rival by perpetually sitting for his picture, and perpetually rejecting the negative with sarcastic comments. To take thousands of photographs for one man, and to receive in payment nothing but gibes and insults, would break the spirit and exhaust the pocket of any "artist." The law can hardly be so negligent as to leave room for such a possibility; and yet to fix upon a definite number of sittings as a limit to which the unskillful photographer can be compelled to go, would be arbitrary, and unsatisfactory to all parties. Of course, we need not apprehend that the court will decide that the public is wholly at the mercy of the photographer, and that it is entitled to but one negative for its money. In that case he who should enter a photograph gallery would leave all hope behind. For him the staring eyeballs, the excessive nose, and the agonized mouth which the unskillful operator so invariably produces, would be served up in place of a truthful portrait, and the money would be remorselessly exacted, while the victim would be forced to remove his pictures from the premises with, perhaps, the sarcastic advice to send them to his wife's relations. No court, however, will lend itself to such an outrage, and we can await the decision of the Brooklyn court with reasonable confidence that it will promote the cause of justice by doing away with the uncertainty which now characterizes the relations between the photographer and the public.

AMUSEMENTS.

MME. TITIENS IN ORATORIO.

A very fine performance of "The Messiah" was last evening given at Steinway Hall by Mme. Titiens, Miss Anna Drasdil, Messrs. Wilkie and J. R. Thomas, and the Centennial Choral Union, a choral force only recently organized, but exceedingly proficient nevertheless. Mme. Titiens is at her best in the severe but highly-expressive music of oratorio, and the large audience assembled last night appreciated fully the magnificent declamation of that eminent artist. All the soprano's solos were redemanded, and, though the interest of the occasion unquestionably centred upon Mme. Titiens' efforts, a great deal of applause was also bestowed upon the performances of her associates. Mr. Bristow conducted the recital, and the admirers of oratorio who enjoyed yesterday's rendering of "The Messiah" will be glad to hear that, encouraged by its success, another oratorio night has been set down for Oct. 29.

ENGLISH OPERA AT BOOTH'S.

Flotow's tuneful opera, "Martha," in its English garb, was given last evening at Booth's Theatre, for the first time this season, by the Kellogg Opera Company. A very large assemblage was present to witness the performance, and the frequent applause gave evidence of the pleasing influence of the singers' efforts. "Martha" was sung and acted last night by Mme. Van Zandt, Mrs. Seguin, Mr. Maas, Mr. Hamilton, and Mr. Seguin. These artists have frequently been heard by local audiences in the characters which they then assumed, and when we say that their efforts won the old-time approval it will be understood that a very excellent performance of the composer's most popular work was enjoyed by all present. This evening Sir Julius Benedict's well known opera, "The Lily of Killarney," will be brought out, with Miss Clara Louise Kellogg, Miss Beaumont, Miss Montague, and Mr. William Castle in the cast.

HERR WACHTEL'S REPRESENTATIONS.

Herr Wachtel last evening sang Chapelou, in Adam's "Postilion of Longjumeau," at the Academy of Music, which was filled by an audience quite as large and quite as enthusiastic as that brought together by Monday's performance. The tenor's personation is exceedingly clever in point of acting, as well as very pleasing as a lyric effort. There is almost material enough for a comedy in "The Postilion," and Herr Wachtel—a rara avis in this respect among tenors—keeps this fact as steadily in view as he does the opportunities of displaying the range and flexibility of his voice. This, as we have already had occasion to observe, is as powerful, as broad of compass, and as supple as it was five years ago. Herr Wachtel manages it in the same way, that is to say, with no very close regard to the best traditions of the Italian school, but with a thorough knowledge of his resources, and while no one can tell with certainty when the singer will resort to his falsetto tones, when to his chest tones, and when to certain throaty sounds which are not always agreeable to listen to, it must be admitted that he nearly always succeeds in endowing the best passages of his music with much vocal charm, and that he never fails to reach an effective close. Last night, as usual, the rondo with the whip-cadenza was loudly redemanded, and so was the florid aria in the second act, which Herr Wachtel executed with delightful ease and surety. The general representation was quite satisfactory. To-morrow "The Huguenots" will be repeated.

GILMORE'S CONCERT GARDEN.

Mr. S. B. Mills last evening played Liszt's "Rhapsodie Hongroise" No. 10 at Gilmore's Concert Garden, and was, of course, compelled to supplement the announced performance by an additional number. The vocalists at the concert were Mrs. Gulager and Miss Simon; and Messrs. Levy and Arbuckle and the Young Apollo Club appeared, with the band, as usual. To-night M. Emile Sauret, the distinguished violinist, will be heard with the other soloists. He will interpret Ernst's fantasia on themes from "Otello."

THE BROOKLYN THEATRE.

Mr. George Belmore acts every evening this week in "The Flying Scud," at the Brooklyn Theatre. Mr. Belmore's performance of Nat Gosling in this City was referred to in these columns very recently as a personation of great fidelity, elaborateness, and finish, and Brooklyn playgoers who have not seen the piece in New-York will do well to bear the fact in mind and to act upon its knowledge. Mr. Belmore is surrounded by an excellent company at the Brooklyn Theatre, and "The Flying Scud" is as handsome and effectively placed upon the stage as could be BRIEF MENTION.

Mme. Goddard and M. Sauret play at a matinée concert at Steinway Hall to-day.

Herr von Bülow's second concert took place at the Boston Music Hall last night. He played the "Henselt" concerto.

The French dramatic company, to appear at the Lyceum Theatre on Wednesday next, are expected by the French steam-ship, due at this port to-day.

The concert announced by Messrs. White and Cervantes for to-night has been postponed until Tuesday next, Steinway Hall being the place, as heretofore.

A performance of "Giroflé-Girofla" occurs at the Stadt Theatre on Friday evening, and, simultaneously, a representation of "La Fille de Madame Angot" is to take place at the Lyceum.

POLITICAL NOTES.

Robert Waddell, of Johnsburg, was nominated for the Assembly yesterday by the Republicans of Warren County.

William Gulick is the Republican nominee for Assembly in Schuyler County, and Myron H. Weaver the candidate for County Clerk.

The Republicans of Sussex County, N. J., have renominated Jesse H. Roe, of Frankford, for the Assembly, and Joseph A. Hendershot, of Hampton, for Sheriff.

The Cincinnati Commercial publishes an affidavit, sworn to by Lewis D. Campbell before a Justice of the Peace, to this effect: "On the 12th of October, 1875, I voted the entire Democratic State, District, and county ticket, for William Allen for Governor, down to William Spencer for Coroner. Those who have asserted or published to the contrary are liars."

The vote on the Constitutional amendments in Connecticut was officially canvassed on Tuesday. On the one changing the time of the annual elections to November, and making them biennial, the whole vote was 43,779, of which all but 2,525 were in its favor. For the amendment giving the Legislature power to return forfeited electoral privileges, 31,619 votes were cast, and 11,363 against it.

A PIOUS CORONER.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

What we have from Tammany in the shape of Croker we know. What we may possibly obtain in the shape of Morton can be conjectured from the following circular that Autumn winds and postal carriers waft about the streets:

> No. 317 WEST ELEVENTH STREET,
> NEW-YORK, Oct. 15, 1875.
>
> DEAR SIR: Having been honored with the Democratic nomination as a candidate for the office of Coroner, I feel justified in appealing to my friends for their support.
> The office is an important public trust; in a party point of view it is of no consideration. If elected, it will be my constant purpose and endeavor, under Divine favor, so to perform the duties as to merit, and, I confidently hope, receive public approbation. With regard. I remain truly yours, GEO. W. MORTON.

The signer of this queer mixture of piety, patriotism and no-partisanship is the airy young gentleman who, in the palmy days of the forty thieves (1853,) was City Inspector, and presided over the births, marriages, and deaths of his fellow-citizens. He also added to his functions a number of sanitary outlooks. He is remembered as a most appropriate predecessor of F. I. A. Boole, who improved the placership of the office quite as much as Flood and O'Brien have developed the silver mines of Nevada. However, Morton was wiser than the children of night in his day and generation. Afterward he was head of that other remarkable placership under Mayors Hoffman and Hall which became so oddly well known to the merchants, and which some facetious compiler of corporation ordinances ycleped the "Permit Bureau."

Nowadays Mr. George Washington Morton, having secured the Tammany Hall nomination for Coroner by the favor of John Kelly, appeals to the "Divine favor" and the no-party consideration of his friends. He can undoubtedly bring into the Coronership all the knowledge of the ways that are dark and the tricks that are vain, which made his other offices so peculiar.

Let us accept Mr. Morton's idea that the "office is an important public trust, and in a party point of view of no consideration," and vote for Mr. Moritz Ellinger. Under George Washington Morton's circulars even his Tammany friends can vote for Mr. Ellinger. If the Coronorship is, "in a party point of view, of no consideration," why did Mr. John Kelly go to the trouble of putting his political pile on this former City Inspector and ex-Permitant? And why go to the trouble of electing this no-party man, if he is to perform his duties as Coroner under the favor of Heaven, and not under favor of another place, to-wit, Tammany Hall and Kelly the first?

The circular is unique. It is a valuable contribution to the political literature of this age. But when its views in a practical point are considered—to borrow the expressive, although inelegant, language of Mr. Detective Moleskin, in the "Overland Route," to his unfortunate victim, "they won't wash!" But after election they who have received this circular can write beneath it, "Let the dead bury their dead," and among them hic jacet Morton! A. B.

A CENTENNIAL JAMBOREE.

A DELEGATION FROM THE WEST AND NORTH-WEST VISIT PHILADELPHIA AND THE CENTENNIAL BUILDING—A GRAND DESTRUCTION OF ENGINES AND GUNPOWDER.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 20.—The reception of business men and visitors from the West and North-west who are to view the Centennial buildings to-morrow proved quite an event. The merchants of this city left nothing undone for the convenience of the guests. The first to arrive here were the guests from the West and South-west, including Gov. Hendricks of Indiana, Hon. John Sherman and ex-Gov. Noyes of Ohio. They were met at Bryn Manor, ten miles from here, by a portion of the Reception Committee. When they arrived at the depot here they were greeted by a salute of fireworks and music. They were escorted to the Girard House, where W. W. Justice welcomed them. The party from the West and North-west left Buffalo at 7 o'clock this morning, and came via the Buffalo, New-York and Philadelphia Railroad in a train of five Pullman cars. The coaches were decorated with bunting and placards inscribed "Buffalo and North-west for Centennial." The whole trip was a notable one. Arches were thrown across the streets in Buffalo, and flowers were presented by ladies. Two engines were used up, and the train was two hours behind time, not arriving here until after 9 o'clock. A howitzer stationed on the train was discharged at intervals of five minutes, and rockets set off at the principal stations. Hassler's Band was stationed at the depot here, and played as the party came in. A procession was formed which moved toward the Continental Hotel. The streets along the route were lined with spectators, and the dwellings brilliantly illuminated.

There were 120 guests on this train, including the Governor elect of Ohio; Hon. Rutherford B. Hayes, Gov. Bagley, of Michigan; Hon. L. P. Dayton, Mayor of Buffalo; Bishop Clarkson, of Nebraska; Hon. George Armour, President of the Chicago Board of Trade; Hon. J. D. Keating, ex-Chief Justice of Illinois; E. W. Blatchford, P. Z. Culver, George M. Culver, Hon. Pennock Pusey, of St. Paul; Hon. Joseph Phillips, of Milwaukee; Mayor Marx, of Toledo and H. W. Colton, President of the Toledo Board of Trade. The party were received by G. B. Mitchell, Esq.

To-morrow the guests visit the Centennial grounds, where another delegation will meet the party from Baltimore.

ANOTHER OF KELLY'S CANDIDATES.

SOME FACTS IN THE HISTORY OF MR. CALVIN—HIS EMPLOYMENT BY THE RING CORPORATION COUNSEL—ENTHUSIASTIC LETTER OF GRATITUDE TO BOSS TWEED—A REMARKABLE DOCUMENT.

One of the oft-repeated boasts of John Kelly in regard to his Judiciary ticket is that none of its members were ever, in any way, shape, or manner, connected with the old Tweed Ring, and during its entire existence sedulously avoided any sort of contact with it, and never allowed themselves to profit by it in the remotest way. It would be easy to show that this idle "brag" of Kelly is utterly unjustified by the facts, in the case of several of his candidates, but for present purposes it is sufficient to allude to but one of their number. The nominee for Surrogate, Mr. Delano C. Calvin, who has been slated by the "Boss" for the office of Surrogate, received from the Controller, on the 8th of July, 1872, a warrant for $1,100, in payment of his services as counsel for the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty during 1871, the year in which the robberies of Tweed, Sweeny, and Connolly reached their highest proportions, and in the midst of which period Mr. Calvin gratefully received the profitable commission in question. His services appear to have been engaged by Richard O'Gorman, the then Corporation Counsel, a warm personal friend of the thieves, and who, at that very time, was struggling with might and main to prevent the disclosures which followed and completed their ruin.

For these services Mr. Calvin received $1,100 from the City on July 8, 1872, the payment being made under chapters 9 and 15 of the Laws of that year, covering "arrearages of 1871." The entries of the payments made to himself and his alleged employer, Mr. O'Gorman, are officially recorded together as follows:

Warrant No. 2,478—July 5, 1872.
Richard O'Gorman, services as Counsel to the Corporation from July 14 to Dec. 31, 1871....$6,000
Warrant No. 2,479—July 8, 1872.
D. C. Calvin, counsel fees in suits against the Mayor, Aldermen, and Commonalty of New-York City........$1,100

A circumstance which strikingly illustrates the intimacy which existed between Tweed and John Kelly's candidate for Surrogate is the discovery of a letter of the latter written to the ex "Boss" when that individual was in the height of his profligate career, and which is reproduced below. The gravest reader will hardly be able to repress a smile at the high-flown allusions to Tweed's "invaluable services" during the war—services which later developments have shown to have been chiefly limited to auditing fraudulent bills in the Ring Board of Supervisors of infamous memory. The chief characteristic of the document, however, is the cringing attitude of the writer toward Tweed, and the disgraceful way in which he taxes his mental resources for fitting compliments for the monumental thief of the century. No man not bound to the Boss by that heartfelt gratitude which arises from favors to come could have concocted so servile a document, and few even of these would have cared to parade such servility in print. The following is the letter, (italics the writer's own:)

> No. 215 BROADWAY, June 28, 1870.
>
> Hon. William M. Tweed, Grand Sachem, and other Sachems:
>
> GENTLEMEN: I am honored by the receipt of your invitation to be present and participate in the ceremonies of the Tammany Society on the approaching anniversary of our "National Birthday." And I have perused with especial interest your able and patriotic manifesto accompanying the same.
>
> There is no body of men so well entitled to proclaim the noble sentiment which you have adopted as your motto, "Civil Liberty, the Glory of Man," as the Tammany Society.
>
> To you justly belongs the great honor of keeping the Democratic Party steadfast, and its position impregnable, during our late civil strife.
>
> By your wise and prudent counsel and example the duty of a patriotic people to fight for the preservation and unity of our Government against enemies from without was reconciled with the equally imperative duty to strive for the maintenance of the Constitution and the supremacy of the civil authority against the intrigues of enemies within, though they were high in authority.
>
> You then struck an answering chord in every Democratic heart, preserved our national Union, and rescued from the hands of its despoilers a germ of State authority which, under the wise nurture of Democratic statesmanship, will yet grow into a hearty and comely tree of constitutional liberty.
>
> Whatever of national glory or civil freedom we may enjoy in this Republic in the future, may be justly ascribed to the sentiment and purpose which animated your honored society at the most critical hour of our national life. And it seems to me that a fuller exposition and better understanding of your position and conduct are due to your organization, and would shed lustre upon the patriotism and fortitude of the Democratic Party.
>
> You have rightly judged that I sympathise with the ideas set forth in your letter, and I shall feel honored to meet with men of like sympathy to commemorate our deliverance from colonial bondage, from national disruption, from Radical domination in the Empire State, and from Municipal servitude, and also to take counsel as to the best mode of ridding our country of Radical misrule and Executive imbecility at Washington.
>
> I am most respectfully and truly,
> D. C. CALVIN.

THE REPUBLICANS.

SENATORIAL AND ASSEMBLY DISTRICT CONVENTIONS, RATIFICATION MEETINGS, &C.

The Fifth Senatorial and Aldermanic Republican Convention completed its ticket last night. Senator James W. Booth, who has been finally induced by his friends to become a candidate for re-election to the Senate, was unanimously nominated, all the gentlemen who have been proposed withdrawing in his favor. Mr. Booth is so well known that any extended notice of him would be superfluous. He is a native of this City, and about fifty-five years of age. For twenty-one years he was a Trustee of public school in the Ninth Ward. Those who vote for Mr. Booth can feel certain that they are voting for one of the most earnest and enthusiastic friends of the public school system that can be found in the country. When the present paid Fire Department was first organized Mr. Booth was made a Fire Commissioner, and served for several months in that office—long enough to see the organization of the department completed. In 1873 he was elected to the State Senate by a majority of 2,437. He did good service in the Legislature on the Committee on Cities, and is now Chairman of the Special Senate Investigating Committee now sitting in this City.

Mr. George W. Betts was nominated for member of Assembly last evening by the Republicans of the Fifth District. Mr. Betts is a native of this City, and thirty years of age. He acted in the capacity of Deputy Clerk to the last Board of Assistant Aldermen. Although but a young man he is one of the most energetic Republicans in his district, and is highly esteemed.

The Eighth Assembly District Republican Convention met at the head-quarters, corner of Grand and Ludlow streets, and unanimously nominated Mr. Frederick Gugel for the Assembly.

The Republicans of the Twentieth Assembly District last night nominated Mr. J. Albert Englehart for the Assembly, who also has the support of the Citizens' Association of the district. Mr. Englehart is a native of Cleveland, of German parentage, twenty-nine years of age, was educated at Harvard University, and is a rising young lawyer of this City, being at present a partner of Judge Dittenhoefer and C. A. Runkle.

The Fourth Senatorial and Assembly District Nominating Conventions assembled last night at No. 152 Franklin street, and adjourned without naming candidates. The Assembly Convention will meet again on Saturday, and the Senatorial Convention will meet at the call of the chair.

A REPUBLICAN RALLY.

The John E. Dowley Republican Association unfurled a very fine "transparency" last evening at their rooms, No. 204 East Broadway, after which addresses on the local political issues were made by several gentlemen. Col. Dugánne spoke in favor of good government, and alluding to the large amount of money expended by the City, said that still a large number of men were unemployed. He wanted employment for every man in the City, and advocated the building of a rapid transit railroad by the Municipal Government. Counselor Morris F. Dowley followed in a sensible speech, advocating the election of Recorder Hackett and the other Republican nominees, and said that until the primaries were attended by the respectable voters the shoulder-hitters would control the City. Mr. Charles E. Abbott and others also made addresses, after which the meeting adjourned.

RATIFICATION MEETING IN THE TENTH ASSEMBLY DISTRICT.

The Tenth Assembly District Seward and Spinner Club, recently organized by the young men of that district, held a ratification meeting last night at No. 89 First avenue, the President, Mr. Isaac H. Underhill, in the chair. The meeting was addressed by Mr. John A. Dinkel, the Anti-Tammany candidate for Civil Justice, Mr. Robert Crane, and Mr. Andrew Jackson Plumb. Resolutions were adopted declaring that the recent Republican victories in Iowa, Nebraska, and Ohio are significant omens of a recession of last year's "tidal wave," and give sure promise that the honest citizens of this State will repudiate the nominees of the Democratic Party, and triumphantly elect the State ticket headed by Frederick W. Seward.

SECOND JUDICIAL DISTRICT REPUBLICANS.

The Second Judicial District Republican Convention met yesterday in the Supreme Court room of the County Court-house for the purpose of nominating a successor to Judge Tappan, whose term expires on Jan. 1. Odle Close, of Westchester, was made permanent Chairman. On motion of Demas Strong, of Kings, a committee of one from each county was appointed to confer with the convention of the bolting Democrats and bolting Liberal Republicans, then in session, in reference to nominations. The committee reported that the bolting Democrats and bolting Liberals had promised to support Mr. Charles H. Winfield, of Orange, or Mr. Jackson O. Dykeman, of Westchester, if the Republican convention would nominate either of those gentlemen. Mr. Winfield was then nominated by Senator Madden, Mr. Dykeman by Mr. Fales, and Mr. George H. Parsons by Col. Rowan. An informal ballot was taken, which resulted as follows: Winfield, 18; Dykeman, 14; Parsons, 12. A formal ballot was then taken. Of the votes cast Dykeman received 24, Winfield 19, and Parsons 1. The nomination of Mr. Dykeman, who is a Democrat, was then made unanimous, after which the convention adjourned.

GERMAN-AMERICAN CONVENTION.

The County Convention of the German-American Independent Citizens' Association met last evening in Beethoven Hall in Fifth street, Prof. Theodore Glaubensklee in the chair. After organizing, the Conference Committee submitted a report recommending the following candidates for indorsement:

For Recorder—John K. Hackett.
For District Attorney—Benjamin K. Phelps.
For Judge of the Superior Court—Charles F. Sanford.
For Judges of the Marine Court—Charles Goepp and James B. Sheridan.
For City Judge—Henry E. Gildersleeve.
For Surrogate—Stephen D. Van Schaick.
For Coroner—Moritz Ellinger.
For Aldermen at Large—Jacob Hess and Nathaniel Terpeny.

The report of the committee was approved and the meeting was adjourned.

THE REPUBLICANS OF GLOVERSVILLE.

Special Dispatch to the New-York Times.

GLOVERSVILLE, N. Y., Oct. 20.—A meeting of young Republican voters of this village met last evening and organized a campaign club. Over 200 names were enrolled as members. Speeches were made by Hon. James H. Burr and A. W. Berry. By the enthusiasm expressed we mean business. The rooms are open every evening for campaign work.

THE NOMINATION FOR SURROGATE.

MR. VAN SCHAICK ACCEPTS THE NOMINATION FOR THE OFFICE OF SURROGATE—THE CORRESPONDENCE.

S. D. Van Schaick, Esq., has finally yielded to the wishes of his many friends, and consents to run as the candidate of the Republican and Anti-Tammany Democratic Parties for Surrogate. Mr. Van Schaick would fill the office to the entire satisfaction of the public, and has an excellent chance of election. Although he has discharged the duties of his present office with great ability, he was fearful that he was not equal to the more responsible office of Surrogate, and hence his reluctance to become a candidate. The following correspondence will explain itself:

NEW-YORK, Oct. 20, 1875.

Stephen D. Van Schaick, Esq.:

DEAR SIR: The joint committee of the Anti-Tammany and Republican Conventions have received with regret your letters declining the nomination for the office of Surrogate. While appreciating the natural dislike of a gentleman of your professional habits and tastes to enter into a political contest for office, we yet feel it a duty we owe to the apparently universal demand of the legal profession, the press, and the public at large to urge you to recall your letters of declination. The industry and fidelity with which you have performed the delicate duties of the office you have filled for six years, the high estimation in which it is conceded that you are held by the Bar of the City, irrespective of party, warrant us in saying that you are the right man for the place. Assuring you of our decided conviction that the withdrawal of your letters and the acceptance of our joint nomination will be received by the public with general approval and satisfaction.

We are, very truly yours,

Ira Shafer, Chairman Democratic Committee; Benjamin Wood, E. B. Hart, Rufus F. Andrews, Alexander Spaulding, James O'Brien, William P. Mitchell, L. M. Doracher, Democratic Conference Committee.

John D. Lawson, Chairman Republican County Committee; C. A. Arthur, George H. Sharpe, John H. White, George Bliss, William A. Darling, Sheridan Shook, Joel W. Mason, Republican Conference Committee.

MR. VAN SCHAICK'S ANSWER.

NEW-YORK, Oct. 20, 1875.

To the Joint Committee of the Anti-Tammany and Republican Nominating Convention:

GENTLEMEN: I have received your very complimentary letter of this date, desiring me to recall my declination of the nomination made by you for the office of Surrogate. While my personal tastes would influence me still to decline the honor tendered me, or a nomination for any elective office, I am so deeply sensible of the numerous and I may say flattering solicitations I have had in this instance, that I consent to be governed by the advice of those whom I have known to be my truest friends. Therefore, in conformity with their earnest wishes, I respectfully withdraw my letters of declination, and thus formally accept the nomination with which I have been honored. Remaining yours, obediently,

S. D. VAN SCHAICK.

SURROGATE'S OFFICE, NEW-YORK, Oct. 20, 1875.

James D. McClelland, Esq., Chairman of the Nominating Committee Democratic County Convention:

DEAR SIR: I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt this afternoon of your communication of the 19th inst., formally presenting my nomination for the office of Surrogate of this County, of which I was previously otherwise aware, and which had already received the most respectful consideration. I beg you to believe that I fully concur in the sentiments conveyed by your letter, and in accepting the nomination you have conferred upon me I am proud of the spirit manifested by your body at this important juncture of public affairs, and am alike grateful for the distinction I have received and the assurance I entertain of your devotedness to the ticket adopted by you. Herewith I beg you to accept my letter addressed to the Joint Conference Committee, and trusting that united efforts will lead on to victory, I have the honor to remain your obedient servant,

S. D. VAN SCHAICK.

ANTI-TAMMANY.

THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE.

The Anti-Tammany Democratic Executive Committee held another conference yesterday for the purpose of filling the vacancies in the party ticket occasioned by the declinations of S. D. Van Schaick, Esq., the candidate for Surrogate, and Benjamin F. Dunning, the candidate for Justice of the Court of Common Pleas. As will be seen by the correspondence published elsewhere, Mr. Van Schaick accepts his nomination. George M. Van Hoesen, Esq., and John L. Sutherland, Esq., two eminent lawyers of this City, were proposed as candidates in place of Mr. Dunning, and Mr. Van Hoesen appeared to give the most general satisfaction. It could not be ascertained last night whether or not the Republicans will be willing to nominate him, but Mr. Rufus F. Andrews, from the subcommittee appointed by the Anti-Tammany Party to confer with prominent Republicans, says that he has no doubt that Mr. Van Hoesen will be acceptable. The following letter from District Attorney Phelps was received yesterday by the Executive Committee:

To the Democratic County Convention:

GENTLEMEN: I am informed by your committee that you have seen fit to nominate me for the office of District Attorney of the County of New-York. I cannot but be gratified for the mark of confidence from gentlemen whose political views upon many subjects differ from my own. I accept your nomination in the belief that the people of this County will insist upon their right to select their own servants without dictation. If elected, I shall seek to be the servant of the whole people. That I have so sought hitherto, in your judgment, your approving verdict assures me.

I have the honor to be respectfully yours,

BENJAMIN K. PHELPS.

SKETCH OF MR. VAN HOESEN.

George M. Van Hoesen, who will, in all probability, be nominated for Justice of the Court of Common Pleas by the Republicans and Anti-Democrats, was born in this City, and is about forty years of age. He finished his education at the New-York University, and studied law for some time with Henry G. Wheaton, Esq., at Albany. He afterward entered the Poughkeepsie Law School, and, graduating with honors, was made Professor of Pleadings and Evidence in that institution. He left the school and went to Iowa, where he became connected, in an editorial capacity, with the Iowa State Democrat. In 1861 he joined the Union Army as Captain of the Thirteenth Regiment of Iowa Volunteers. He was made Major for gallant conduct at the battle of Shiloh, and was subsequently made by Gen. Halleck Acting Provost Marshal General of the Department of the Mississippi. He was relieved from this office at his own request by Gen. Grant and returned to this City in 1865, and has since been engaged in the practice of law. Mr. Van Hoesen is well known in the legal profession, and enjoys the respect and esteem of the fraternity. He has always been a Democrat, but is not a partisan.

NOMINATIONS FOR THE ASSEMBLY.

The Anti-Tammany Assembly Conventions were held throughout the City last evening. In the Second District Felix Murphy was nominated; in the Third James A. Graves; Fifth, David A. Paige; Sixth, Michael Healey; Seventh, Thomas Jefferson Gibbon; Eighth, Robert E. Burkhardt; Thirteenth, Michael Gallagher; Fourteenth, Arthur J. McQuade; Fifteenth, Thomas Costigan; Sixteenth, George E. Wilson; Seventeenth, George M. Plunkett.

LOCAL POLITICAL NOTES.

A meeting of the German Republican Association of the Twenty-first Assembly District will be held at No. 1,591 Second avenue, this evening, to ratify the State and County ticket. Prominent speakers will attend.

Frederick A. Schroeder Campaign Clubs are to be formed in all the wards of Brooklyn. A mass meeting will be held at Kraushaar's on Court street, near Livingston, on Wednesday evening, at which the central club will be organized.

The Republicans of the Twenty-second Ward of Brooklyn last evening ratified the State, county, city, and ward nominations. Addresses were made by S. B. Dutcher, Tunis G. Bergen, Jr., candidate for Assembly, and William A. Frits, candidate for Alderman.

The Republican Judicial Convention of the Second District met at the corner of Chatham and Pearl streets on Monday evening, and adjourned to Saturday evening, without making a nomination. The Assembly Convention was adjourned to the call of the chair.

A grand mass meeting to ratify the nominations of Hon. James W. Booth for the State Senate, and Messrs. John Morris and William Wade for Aldermen in the Fifth Senatorial District, will take place at Bleecker Building, in Bleecker street, on Thursday of next week.

It is authoritatively stated that John Morrissey will accept the nomination for the Senate of the anti-Tammany Democracy of the Fourth District. Mr. Morrissey is not anxious to go into a political contest at this time, but submits himself to the wishes of his friends.

The local nominations of the Republicans of Buffalo have all been made, as follows: For Mayor, Philip Becker; Controller, Lewis M. Evans; City Attorney, John B. Greene; City Treasurer, Louis A. Buehl; City Engineer, George E. Mann; Street Commissioner, Charles Jessemin; Superintendent of Education, William S. Rice; Assessor, John Zoll; Overseer of the Poor, John C. Level; Justice of the Peace, John O'Brian.

The Third Judicial District Republican Convention met on Monday evening, ex-Senator Abraham Lent presiding, and nominated George W. Parker, Esq., as a candidate for Civil Justice. Mr. Parker has resided in this City for twenty-five years, the greater part of the time in the Ninth Ward. He graduated at Middlebury College, Vermont, and is well and favorably known in legal circles. He was Assistant Corporation Attorney under Corporation Counsel Smith and discharged the duties of that office with satisfaction to everybody.

KINGS COUNTY POLITICS.

THE BROOKLYN REFORMERS.

MR. BACKHOUSE DECLINES THE NOMINATION FOR MAYOR—AN ADDRESS TO THE TAX-PAYERS OF BROOKLYN—SOME OF THE REPUBLICAN CANDIDATES INDORSED.

A largely-attended meeting of the Independent Citizens' and Tax-payers' Association was held last evening in the Directors' Room of the Academy of Music, for the purpose of hearing the report of the committee appointed to wait on Mr. Backhouse, and learn his decision concerning the nomination for Mayor tendered him by the association. Mr. James A. Van Brunt occupied the chair. After the meeting had been called to order, the committee handed in the following letter from Mr. Backhouse, declining the honor:

To James H. Van Brunt, Chairman of the Independent Tax-payers' Association:

Your letter of the 13th instant, in which you inform me that at a meeting of tax-payers, representing all parts of our City and all political parties, I was unanimously nominated as a candidate for Mayor, was duly received. I feel much honored by the action of this committee, but after full and careful consideration I have concluded that it is not my duty nor is it expedient that I accept the nomination. I am of opinion that a large number of the voters of Brooklyn would be glad to have an opportunity to cast their votes in the coming election for candidates who would be independent of the influence of the set of men who control the nominations of both the political parties in this city. At the time your nomination was tendered to me, and subsequent thereto, I was assured by many leading Republicans that the Republican Party was determined to break loose from Ring control and unite with the independent tax payers in supporting a non-partisan ticket which should promise relief to our overburdened and outraged people. On the assembling of this convention, however, it was found that the party politicians were in the ascendency, and demanded and received at the hands of that convention a strict party nomination. Whether the pledges of co-operation which were given to the Tax-payers' Association were made for the sole purpose of inducing delay on the part of those anxious only for good government, it is not worth while now to discuss, as, in my judgment, the time has gone by in which it is possible for the tax-payers to complete their organization throughout the City in time for the coming election. They would be compelled to go into the canvass under great disadvantages, and with little probability of securing the full vote of those who sympathize with your movement. To run an independent candidate under the circumstances might affect the result of the election by drawing off votes from one or other of the two party candidates now in nomination, and in my judgment we ought to avoid as far as possible any action which would render us responsible in any way for the election of either of the tickets put in nomination by the Ring which virtually controls both organizations. So long as the officers of your city are to be elected from candidates who are thus dictated, it makes little difference, in my judgment, to the tax-payers which one succeeds. We, however, have a grave and weighty duty to perform. Our organization should be perfected and made permanent. Through its vigilance and influence our public servants should be held to a rigid accountability, their official acts inquired into, and their malfeasance and misfeasance subjected to the just penalty of the law. When the tax-payers of Brooklyn arise in their might and demand a legal investigation of the frauds and peculations of the past, compel the plunderers of Brooklyn to disgorge the money which they have filched from the public Treasury, and inflict upon them the pains and penalties provided by law, the Ring which now dictates the nominations of both parties will be broken, and I fear not till then.

For the honor conferred upon me please accept my thanks. Your obedient servant,

E. T. BACKHOUSE.

BROOKLYN, Oct. 20 1875.

After the reading of the letter Messrs. Thomas A. Painter, Harvey Farrington, and Samuel Booth were appointed a committee to draw up an address to the people. A recess was then taken, and when a half hour had elapsed the committee returned with the following address, which was unanimously adopted:

To the citizens of Brooklyn who desire and deserve good government regardless of party:

GENTLEMEN: You are undoubtedly aware that certain of your fellow-citizens, desirous of saving the remnant of their property and yours from the spoliation of the Ring of confederated politicians who have so long dominated our affairs to their great and manifest injury, named for the office of Mayor a gentleman of unsullied private character and stainless public record, and of wide and varied experience, and who has done more to unearth and expose fraud and jobbery in our municipal government than any man in our midst, hoping that a political organization, professedly acting more in the interest of the people than its rival, would adopt him, and by its organization aid us in electing him, which hope seemed well founded when its present candidate indorsed both our action and our candidate, but which proved delusive; and our candidate, having now for well-considered reasons, withdrawn his name from the canvass, we deem it our duty, the time for action being so short and thorough organization previous to election day being impossible, to say to you that neither candidate for Mayor represents in full the principles of this association, and we can only relegate the Mayoralty nominations to the judgment of each individual voter. The candidates nominated for other offices are before you. We make no recommendation as to any of them, except of two gentlemen who have kindly consented to serve the people in the delicate and responsible positions of Commissioners of Charities, and who deserve the votes of every friend of the poor and unfortunate. We refer of course to Samuel Hutchinson and John W. Harmon, whom we trust will not fail of an election by a large majority. In conclusion, we ask your continued sympathy and countenance. It is our purpose to make our organization permanent in character and effective for work. That it is needed no one doubts. Let party lines in municipal affairs hereafter be ignored, and let all good citizens stand together to protect their property, punish official scoundrels, and select faithful servants, regardless of party names or past political associations. This done and the future welfare of Brooklyn is assured. If not done, let the past answer for the future. We have been plundered, fellow-citizens. Our duty and manhood demand that we recover our property and hold to legal responsibility those who have robbed us. On a platform of restitution and punishment we cannot fail to redeem our city.

(Signed,) TAXPAYERS' GENERAL COMMITTEE.

After the address had been accepted a resolution was passed indorsing Jackson O. Dykeman, the Republican nominee for Justice of the Supreme Court in place of Judge Tappen. The association then adjourned subject to the call of the Chair.

GERMAN MASS-MEETING.

A mass-meeting of the Germans of Brooklyn, irrespective of party, was held last evening in the Kraushaar Building, in Court street, for the purpose of indorsing F. A. Schroeder for Mayor, and taking steps to form Schroeder Clubs in all the wards of the City. Col Roehr called the meeting to order, and Sigismund Kaufman was made Chairman. Stirring speeches were made by Mr. Schroeder, Mr. Kaufman, Mr. Soloman Spitzer, and Mr. Fritz Sterns. The attendance was very large, and great enthusiasm was exhibited. The greater part of the evening was taken up in appointing committees to make arrangements for the establishment of Schroeder Clubs in all the wards of the city. A Central Schroeder Club, of which Sigismund Kaufman was elected President, was formed, and is to hold its meetings in the Kraushaar Building.

THE TAMMANY ASSEMBLY NOMINATIONS.

The Tammany Conventions for the nomination of Assemblymen were held in the several Assembly districts of the City last evening. The following is the result:

First District—Nicholas Muller.
Second District—William P. Kirk.
Third District—Adjourned.
Fourth District—Adjourned.
Fifth District—James F. Cavanagh.
Sixth District—Matthew Patten.
Seventh District—Clifford A. H. Bartlett.
Eighth District—Charles Geusmann.
Ninth District—Adjourned.
Tenth District—Adjourned.
Eleventh District—Adjourned.
Twelfth District—Joseph E. Neuberger.
Thirteenth District—Adjourned.
Fourteenth District—John Foley.
Fifteenth District—Martin P. Killian.
Sixteenth District—Franklin E. Churchill.
Seventeenth District—O. J. Kennedy.
Eighteenth District—Adjourned.
Nineteenth District—James T. King.
Twentieth District—Adjourned.
Twenty-first District—Joseph P. Fallon.

Orrin A. Bills, of Yonkers, was nominated for the Assembly yesterday by the Tammany Democrats of the First District of Westchester County, which includes the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth Wards of this City.

TAMMANY NOTES.

Dr. Vosburg will probably be the nominee for Assembly on the Tammany ticket in the Ninth District.

The managers of the Tammany Hall party in the Second Assembly District have announced a grand ratification meeting to take place at Monroe Hall. This hall is now rented by the City and used as the Second Judicial District Court room. It is pertinent to ask by whose authority this courthouse is to be prostituted to the service of John Kelly and his followers. Charles M. Clancy is the Civil Justice in this judicial district, and may, perhaps, be able to answer.

WESTERN PASSENGER RATES.

CHICAGO, Ill., Oct. 20.—The trunk lines entering Chicago from the East have adopted the following new passenger rates, which will go into effect Nov. 1: To New-York, $22; to Boston, $25; to Philadelphia, $20; to Baltimore, $19 50; to Albany and Troy, $20 15, and to Harrisburg, $19. This is an advance of about two dollars on old rates.

THE FUNERAL OF MISS BELMONT.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 20.—The funeral of the daughter of Mr. August Belmont, of New-York, was solemnized at Kay Chapel, at Newport to-day.

CALIFORNIA ELECTION.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—The returns of the election for State Superintendent of Public Instruction, the only State officer voted for at this election, indicate that Carr, Republican, is elected over Fitzgerald, Democrat. The Independent candidate withdrew some weeks ago, and Carr has also received the influence of the Grangers. The result in the city is yet uncertain, party lines being broken by local considerations. The vote in the city and State has been light.

GREAT BRITAIN.

SEVERAL COUNTIES SUFFERING FROM THE INUNDATION.

LONDON, Oct. 21—6 A. M.—Later reports received state that extensive floods have occurred throughout Lancashire, Warwickshire, and elsewhere in England. The Midland Railway between Sheffield and Doncaster is submerged, in some places to the extent of five feet. Traffic is consequently seriously interrupted and for many miles absolutely stopped. Many low-lying houses in Birmingham have been inundated, the water in some cases being several feet above the first floor. The water stands seven feet deep on the tracks at the Walsall Railway Station.

MOVEMENT OF BULLION.

LONDON, Oct. 21—5 A. M.—The Echo of this morning says that a large portion of the bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England yesterday will be sent to Canada.

TURKEY.

GUARANTEES FOR THE FULFILLMENT OF THE FINANCIAL OBLIGATIONS.

LONDON, Oct. 21—6 A. M.—The Times this morning has a special telegram from Berlin in which it is said that the Turkish Government have declared their willingness to give the great Powers any guarantees compatible with the nation's dignity for the fulfillment of her financial programme.

CENTRAL ASIA.

A PERMANENT RUSSIAN AGENCY IN KASHGAR.

LONDON, Oct. 21—6 A. M.—The Times this morning says that the Kashgar Envoy at St. Petersburg has conceded the establishment of a permanent Russian Agency.

OBITUARY.

SIR CHARLES WHEATSTONE, F. R. S.

A cable dispatch from Paris this morning announces the death of this distinguished scientist, which occurred there yesterday. Prof. Wheatstone was born in Gloucester, England, in 1802, and in early youth was engaged in the manufacture of musical instruments. This occupation led him to study the laws of sound and their application to music, and from this he proceeded to investigate the laws of light experimentally. He published in the Journal of the Royal Institution and the Philosophical Magazine many experiments in optics and acoustics, made in his researches. In 1833, through Prof. Faraday, he communicated to the Royal Society a paper on "Acoustic Figures," and the following year he sent his memorable "Account of Some Experiments to Measure the Velocity of Electricity and the Duration of Electric Light." The same year he was appointed Professor of Experimental Philosophy in King's College, London, and was elected a Fellow of the Royal Society in 1836. In June, 1838, he communicated to the Royal Society a paper entitled "Contributions to the Physiology of Vision," describing in it and giving the name to the stereoscope, now so familiar to everybody. His experiments with electricity brought him to see in a measure the great revolution since effected in the transmission of intelligence, and in connection with Mr. William Fothergill Cooke he attained such results as entitle him to be regarded as one of the inventors of the electric telegraph. Though Prof. Morse's invention was undoubtedly of earlier date, it is not known that Prof. Wheatstone had any knowledge of Prof. Morse's discovery when he, in June, 1836, made public his own experiments. He was associated with Mr. Cooke in the first telegraph patent in England. An official paper by the late Sir M. I. Brunel and Prof. Daniell, at a time when some misunderstanding had arisen from the conflicting claims to the origin of this invention in England, presents his connection with the invention in the following language: "In March, 1836, Mr. Cooke, while engaged at Heidelberg in scientific pursuits, witnessed for the first time one of those well-known experiments on electricity, considered as a possible means of communicating intelligence, which have been tried and exhibited, from time to time, during many years by various philosophers. Struck with the vast importance of an instantaneous mode of communicating intelligence, (especially by the medium of railways,) and impressed with a strong conviction that so great an object might be attained by means of electricity, he immediately directed his attention to the adaptation of electricity to a practical system of telegraphing, and giving up the profession in which he was engaged he from that hour devoted himself exclusively to the realization of that object. He returned to England in April, 1836, to perfect his plans. In February, 1837, while engaged in completing a set of instruments for an intended experimental application of his telegraph to a tunnel on the Liverpool and Manchester Railroad, he was introduced by Dr. Roget to Prof. Wheatstone, who for several years had given much attention to the subject of transmitting intelligence by electricity, and had made several discoveries of the highest importance connected with this subject. Among these were his well-known determination of the velocity of electricity when passing through a metal wire; his experiments, in which the deflection of magnetic needles, the decomposition of water, and other voltaic and magneto-electric effects were produced through greater lengths of wire than had ever before been experimented upon, and his original method of converting a few wires into a considerable number of circuits, so that they might transmit the greatest number of signals which can be given by a given number of wires by the deflection of magnetic needles. In May, 1837, Messrs. Cooke and Wheatstone took out a joint English patent, on a footing of equality, for their existing inventions, and the undertaking rapidly progressed until it attained the character of a simple and practical system, worked out scientifically on the sure basis of actual experience. While Mr. Cooke is entitled to stand alone as the gentleman to whom this country is indebted for having practically introduced and carried out the electric telegraph as a useful undertaking, and Prof. Wheatstone is acknowledged as the scientific man whose profound and successful researches have already prepared the public to receive it as a project capable of practical application, it is to the united labors of two gentlemen so well qualified for mutual assistance that we must attribute the rapid progress which this important invention has made during the five years since they have been associated." This paper appeared in April, 1841. The electro-magnetic alarm was also invented by him, as well as several instruments for registering, by means of electro-magnetism, the indications of the thermometer and barometer, transient observations in astronomy, and extremely short intervals of time. He had twice received the Royal Society's medals for discoveries. In 1855 he received from the Emperor Napoleon III. the decoration of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, for his "application of the electric telegraph." In 1838 he published a volume of experimental researches. In 1868 the Queen conferred on him the honor of knighthood. He received the degree of LL. D. from the University of Edinburgh April 12, 1869. Prof. Wheatstone's health had been failing for some time.

SIXTH EDITION.

THE BEECHER CASE—WHAT ARE THE FACTS?

The SIXTH edition of the REVIEW of the EVIDENCE in the BEECHER TRIAL, which originally appeared in THE NEW-YORK TIMES of July 3. The facts in the celebrated case are for the first time presented in a brief yet exhaustive form. The evidence of Mr. BEECHER'S own letters and sworn statements has been carefully analyzed, and references are given to "Abbott's Official Report" of the trial, so far as that work has yet appeared. The quotations from the evidence and letters have been thoroughly verified, some corrections have been made, and an important comparison between the letters of Mr. BEECHER, Mrs. TILTON, and Mrs. MORSE has been added. Every reference to documents or testimony has been carefully compared with the official copies.

The pamphlet may be had at the offices of THE NEW-YORK TIMES, No. 41 Park row and No. 1,257 Broadway; of Mr. Brentano, No. 39 Union square, and of the American News Company, No. 121 Nassau st.

Price 25 cents. Sent to any address by post for the same price.

THE GREAT COMIC SENSATION OF THE YEAR!—JOSH BILLINGS' ALMINAX for 1876. CARLETON & CO., publishers. Everybody buying it.

LONGFELLOW'S NEW BOOK.

THE MASQUE OF PANDORA AND OTHER POEMS.

1 vol. 16mo.....$1 50

This book contains "The Masque of Pandora," a new dramatic poem; "Morituri Salutamus," the famous semi-centennial class poem recited at Bowdoin College last July; "The Hanging of the Crane," which, in its illustrated form, was so popular last year; "Birds of Passage," and a "Book of Sonnets." No previous volume by Mr. Longfellow is richer in the beauty of fancy, the grace of thought, and the felicity of utterance for which he is admired wherever the English language is known.

BRET HARTE'S NEW BOOK.

TALES OF THE ARGONAUTS AND OTHER SKETCHES.

1 vol. 16mo.....$1 50

Eight stories and sketches of Californian and pioneer life, of the same general character and marked by the same unique genius as the "Luck of Roaring Camp" and other stories which have won Bret Harte a world-wide fame. This book will confirm the judgment of the Galaxy that "he has conquered a new region in literature, and has given to the world a series of pictures which have as distinct and original a vitality as anything added during this generation to American letters."

THE HEBREW CHARITY FAIR, IN AID OF THE MOUNT SINAI HOSPITAL.

NEW-YORK, Oct. 13, 1875.—SIRS: The increasing demands on the Mount Sinai Hospital, in consequence of the financial depression, together with the inability of a number of former members of the institution to contribute further to its funds, make it necessary to raise money for this deserving institution, which extends its charities to all, without regard to religion or nationality. It has therefore been decided to hold a fair in the early part of December next, and the undersigned Chairmen of the Woolen, Clothing, and Dry Goods Departments, or some of the gentlemen named below, who form the committees thereof, will call on you at an early date to solicit your contribution. No other person for this department is authorized to ask for or receive donations. Yours respectfully, MAX STADLER, Chairman Clothing and Woolen Department. JACOB F. BAMBERGER, Chairman Dry Goods Department.

LOCAL MISCELLANY.

THE REVERE SUICIDE.

THE INQUEST—TESTIMONY OF THE WOMAN STYLES—A VIOLENT AND DRUNKEN LOVER—VERDICT OF DEATH BY SUICIDE.

The inquest was held by Coroner Croker, yesterday, in the case of Charles Revere, who shot himself in the house of Annie Styles, alias Starrs, No. 165 West Forty-sixth street, on Tuesday morning. The woman Styles, in company with her colored servants, was brought from her house in custody of Officer Holmes, of the Twenty-second Precinct. On being called to the witness stand, she said her real name was Annie Starrs, though she was called Annie Styles by a great many, and passed under that name; she had been married eleven years, and her husband is now in South America; she knew Revere three years, and had lived with him as man and wife up to two months ago; she had since received money from her husband. During her intimacy with Revere he was very jealous, and objected to her conversing with any other gentleman; he was very abusive to her at times, and two months ago he abused her so badly that she slapped his face and ordered him out of the house; on Monday she went to the races at Jerome Park, not expecting to see him there; but they met, and after calling at places on the road they came home together about 4:30 o'clock in the morning; she did not know of any one but her servants being in the house; Revere went into her room and wanted to remain there; he had given her a $100 bill while on the way home from the races; she said, "I don't want you or your money;" he slapped her face, and she said, "Now you have struck me, and you must leave the house;" he slapped her face again, and then begged her to forgive him; he threw his watch and chain and money in her lap, saying, "Take all I have;" she threw them on the floor; he then struck her on the side of the head with the butt of his revolver, saying, "I'll kill you, and we'll die together;" she said, "Oh, don't kill me," and he said, "What, plead for your life with me?" and struck her again; this second blow opened a vein on her forehead, and Revere, seeing the blood gush out, then shot himself.

Ellen Jackson, the colored chamber-maid, on being called, swore that Miss Styles, accompanied by Revere and another lady and gentleman, entered the house about 4:30 o'clock.

As Miss Styles had testified she was not aware of any one being in the house except herself, Revere, and the servants, she was at once recalled. She testified that at the races she met, besides Revere, "Gabe" Clark, a noted sporting man, Mrs. Wetherby, of No. 142 West Forty-sixth street, Mr. Cassidy, and three ladies whom she knew as Lottie, Minnie, and Carrie; they drank wine in Harry Bertholf's, then in Stetson's, and then had dinner and more wine in Solaris'; from Solaris', accompanied by Clark and Mrs. Wetherby, they went to two houses in Thirty-first street and drank more wine; from there they went to Wood's American House, on Sixth avenue, and had oysters and wine; on reaching her house Clark and Mrs. Wetherby remained in the front parlor, while she went into the back parlor with Revere; the folding doors were open, and Clark and Mrs. Wetherby went up stairs; after Revere had shot himself she shouted out for Clark and Mrs. Wetherby to leave the house, and they did so; she admitted making a false statement in her previous testimony, but did so to shield Clark and Mrs. Wetherby from notoriety.

The jury after a short absence rendered a verdict of death by suicide.

THE MURDER IN CHATHAM STREET.

JACOB STAUDERMAN SENTENCED TO BE HANGED—THE EXECUTION TO TAKE PLACE ON DEC. 10.

Jacob Stauderman, the murderer of Miss Louisa Seidenwald, was arraigned for sentence yesterday morning in the Court of Oyer and Terminer, before Judge Barrett. When asked whether he had anything to say why sentence should not be pronounced, Stauderman nodded to his counsel, Mr. Howe, who said that his client had had a fair and impartial trial, and he had nothing to say in his behalf except to move for an arrest of judgment upon the special plea interposed on the trial challenging the jury panel. The motion for arrest of judgment was denied, and Judge Barrett then pronounced sentence as follows:

"Jacob Stauderman, you have been justly convicted of the commission of a great crime, and you have forfeited your life to the law of the land. There never was a flimsier pretense than that of your insanity. An enlightened jury has not failed to distinguish between the guilty frenzy of a wicked and revengeful mind and the innocent unconsciousness of a diseased brain and darkened mind. I trust in God that your fate may induce other hands to pause, other hearts to reflect, and that it may thus prove useful to the community. The hope of it is its justification. Stauderman, you have exhibited in jail some signs of remorse. In your defense these were treated as symptoms of insanity, but I will do you the justice of believing that they were expressions of anguish from your awakened conscience. May this disposition of heart continue, and may it result in that true repentance for which there is yet time. Nothing remains but to pass judgment. It is a solemn duty, but the individual is sustained by the consciousness that it is the court which speaks, and that even the court is but the mouthpiece of the law. The sentence of the court is that you, Jacob Stauderman, be taken to the City Prison of the City of New-York, from whence you came, and that on Friday, the 10th day of December, 1875, you be hanged by the neck until you die."

Stauderman received his sentence without the slightest apparent emotion, and at its conclusion was removed from the court-room by Under Sheriff Cummings, a large crowd following him on his way to the Tombs.

JUDGE ROOSEVELT'S WILL.

A litigation, in the form of a friendly suit to determine the meaning of the will of Hon. James I. Roosevelt, formerly United States District Attorney and Judge of the Supreme Court, has come up on appeal to the General Term of the Supreme Court, which now has the question under consideration. Judge Roosevelt left an estate estimated at several millions, the bulk of which was vested in trust for his four children, to revert at their death to his grandchildren; but he added a provision that his Executors and Trustees might make such advances from his estate to his children from time to time as the children might desire, if the Executors and Trustees thought it for the interest of the children to make such advances. The children, in virtue of this provision, have made requests for advances aggregating hundreds of thousands of dollars, and the Executors and Trustees think it would be for the interest of the children to grant them their requests, but doubt their power to accede, as, if the principle were conceded, such demands might be made as would destroy the trust, so far as the grandchildren are concerned; and this is the question which the General Term is asked to pass upon.

MEETING OF DENTAL SURGEONS.

The second special meeting of the American Academy of Dental Surgery was held yesterday at the College of Physicians and Surgeons. Letters were read from a number of gentlemen regretting that their business engagements prevented their attendance. A paper on the "Pathology and Treatment of Dental Pulp," by Dr. J. B. Willmott, of Toronto, Canada, was read by Rev. Mr. Pratt. Dr. A. P. Merrill, of New-York, read a paper on the "Necessity of Dentists in the Army and Navy," Dr. C. S. Hurlburt, of Springfield, Mass., followed with a paper on "Mechanical Dentistry," Dr. John M. Riggs, of Hartford, read a paper on "Suppurative Inflammation of the Gums and Absorption of that Tissue, and the Alveolar Process," and Dr. W. S. Elliot read a paper on "Physics and Physiology as Related to Dentistry."

PROPOSAL FOR CITY BONDS.

Controller Green yesterday received proposals for $7,572,500 six per cent. bonds of the City of New-York, payable in 1878, 1879, and 1880, the proceeds of which are to be applied to the redemption of like bonds of the City which will mature Nov. 1. The issue of the new bonds will not, therefore, make any addition to the City debt. Proposals were received from thirty-eight bidders—individuals, banking firms, savings banks, &c.—and the total amount of the bids footed up $8,393,400. The highest bidder was J. T. & J. G. Frost & Co., who bid for $40,000 at $102 50. The average of the bids was about $101. The Trustees of the Police Life Insurance Fund asked for $2',000 "at as low a rate as possible."

RAILROAD MATTERS.

The Conference Committee of the Missouri Pacific and the Atlantic and Pacific Railroads met again yesterday, but the result of their deliberations has not been made public. The Missouri Line is leased to the Atlantic and Pacific at six per cent., and the interest being in default is the cause of all the trouble. The Atlantic and Pacific is ready and willing to surrender the lease on condition that the Missouri Pacific pay $1,400,000, which they have expended in repairs, but the other side show no anxiety to take possession of the road.

THE MAIL SERVICE BENEFIT SOCIETY.

The first annual convention of the United States Railway Mail Service Mutual Benefit Association was held in the new Post Office building yesterday, Mr. A. B. Hulse, the President, in the chair. The latter, in calling the meeting to order, stated the objects of the society, which he said were to afford assistance to the families of deceased members. The class of people eligible for membership comprised all general officers, their clerks, railway Post Office clerks, route agents, mail route messengers, local agents, and all clerks in Post Offices who had held a commission as railway post office clerk or route agent within the past ten years, and all others connected with the railway branch of the United States mail service by commission or appointment. At 4 P. M. the convention was formally organized, and a committee was appointed to apply to Congress for a charter. The meeting was then adjourned until this morning at 9 A. M., and the convention resolved itself into a Committee of the Whole.

THE LOCOMOTIVE ENGINEERS.

ANNUAL CONVENTION OF THE GRAND INTERNATIONAL DIVISION AT IRVING HALL.

The annual convention of the Grand International Division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers opened at Irving Hall yesterday, delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada being in attendance. The convention was called to order by Mr. W. Holbrook, of this City, at 10 A. M., Rev. L. F. Moore, of Flushing, delivering an opening prayer. After the reading of a letter from Mayor Wickham expressive of his regret at being unable to attend the opening exercises, an address of welcome was delivered by Clarkson N. Potter, and replied to by the First Grand Engineer, F. S. Ingraham, of Cleveland, Ohio. Grand Chief Engineer P. M. Arthur, of Cleveland, then read his annual address. He said that notwithstanding the many disadvantages they had labored under the past year their numbers had steadily increased, and six new charters had been granted. During the past year there had been a strong desire manifested by some of the railway managers to reduce the wages of their engineers, claiming that engineers should be reduced as well as other employes, and the public would infer from their arguments that the engineers were disposed to be arbitrary and unjust in their demands because they were organized; but such was not the case. The engineers had always evinced a liberal spirit toward their employers and a disposition to bear their share of the burden when convinced it was necessary for them to do so in order to relieve the companies of their financial embarrassment, but they did not think it right or just that they should be called upon to assist in making good losses sustained by engaging in wild speculations and combinations to monopolize and control the traffic of the country to the exclusion of all honest competition, such as some of the railway managers have engaged in during the past two years, and the system of paying engineers by the mile now in vogue upon the majority of the roads causes a sufficient reduction, as the amount of wages received per month depends entirely upon the number of miles run and the amount of business done on the road. The engineers had suffered as much in proportion on account of the recent panic and the general depression of business as any other class of men that were dependent on their daily earnings, and the plea of poverty made by some of the railway managers, as an excuse for reducing the wages of their engineers, was inconsistent, as their annual reports of earnings and expenditures for the past two years compare favorably with any previous year, which was the best evidence the engineers can have of their financial condition and of their ability to pay a fair and just compensation. There had been six cases of differences between railway companies and their engineers that the organization had been called upon to settle. Some of them were quite aggravated, yet by persistent effort all were amicably adjusted.

Mr. C. H. Sherman, President of the Locomotive Engineers' Mutual Life Insurance Association, next addressed the convention on the aims of that organization and the good work it had accomplished in providing for the families of deceased members. Other addresses were delivered by Hon. Benjamin Willis, Mr. Frank Abbott, Secretary and Treasurer of the Life Insurance Association, and Rev. R. S. MacArthur, Pastor of Calvary Baptist Church. The afternoon session of the convention was conducted in secret, and was exclusively devoted to the examination of credentials. The convention will resume business this morning.

THE BIBLE IN THE SCHOOLS.

LARGE AND ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING AT COOPER INSTITUTE—NO COMPROMISE WITH ROME.

The American Common School League, an organization recently formed in this City, held a mass-meeting last evening in Cooper Institute. The objects of the league are to pronounce against the abolishment of the Bible from the public schools. Mr. S. H. Munn presided over the meeting, which was largely attended. After a prayer, Rev. J. S. Wills was introduced as the first speaker. He thought as a question of propriety there could be no reasonable objection to the Bible in the public schools. The Bible was not objected to in the courts nor in the halls of legislation. He claimed it was the most dignified history in existence, and, therefore, could not be objectionable. The gentleman referred to Germany and Great Britain as countries which have always had the Bible, and to France, Spain, and Italy as countries where they had not. Where there was progress, liberty, and Christian civilization, there was the Bible; where ignorance and intolerance were, there the Bible could not be found. He held that it was the design of the public school to awaken the moral sense, to prepare the child for good citizenship. The perpetuity of the Government depends upon the moral culture of the children. He insisted that this objection to the Bible had been dictated by a council of Cardinals gathered beneath the shadow of the Vatican. The Bible is not a Protestant Bible, so far as it relates to the public schools, but it is an American Bible, a republican book in every particular. He thought that Americans would do well to imbibe the genius of Prince Bismarck, whose treatment of the Roman Catholics was well known. The establishment which furnishes three-fourths of the criminals of the country is the one which clamors against the invasion of rights when no rights were invaded. The speaker held that there was too much of a spirit of compromise. He believed in compromising not one single step in this question. The address was loudly applauded.

Mr. J. Penny was the next speaker. He said the Pope had come out and declared against free speech, free schools, and free governments, and urged his hearers not only to guard against an improper division of the school fund, but to see to it that their lawmakers at Albany passed no more special laws giving certain so-called religious societies uncommon powers.

Rev. Charles Parker said what they wanted was every man to do his duty. What they were asked to do by Rome was not so much to take out the Bible as to cut the throat of the public schools. It was their duty to prevent this.

At this point a subscription was taken up in support of the cause.

Rev. W. C. Steel, of Brooklyn, was then introduced. He said half-way measures should no longer be tolerated, and every American should be called upon to show his hand. Priests, Bishops, and the Cardinal in this country are but the mouthpieces of the Pope at Rome. First of all they asked for the removal of the Bible from the public schools, and a great many weak-kneed persons said, let us oblige them, and let the Bible go. And it went in some places. But that wasn't all they wanted; they wanted the money. These men, like a lot of highwaymen, come up and say, we want your common school money or we want your life. There are 200 sects in America, and not one of them would dare to ask that the school money be divided. The removal of the Bible involved the death of the public schools, and those present were not ready to wear crape yet. He wanted foreigners to come by thousands and hundreds of thousands, but they must not touch the corner-stone of the liberty of this country, which is the Bible. He wanted no conscience favored in this regard, for, so far as that cry was concerned, it was no uncommon thing to legislate against the conscience in this country. The public school system of this country must be free to all, sustained by all, and independent of all. Let his hearers say to the Pope and to the politicians, take everything else, but don't touch that Book. It is the bulwark of our freedom. It is the root of all democracy.

Speeches were also made by Rev. S. Merritt Miller and others. Mr. Miller was severe on the women of this country for wearing so much cardinal red in their hats and around their waists. He would much rather they wore that yellow color so dear to every Orangeman. This sentiment was received with great enthusiasm. The meeting was then adjourned with a benediction by Rev. Mr. Harris.

THE LONG ISLAND BAPTIST ASSOCIATION.

The closing sessions of the Long Island Baptist Association were held yesterday morning and afternoon in the Central Baptist Church, Brooklyn, E. D. In the morning the Treasurer's report was read, showing a balance on hand of $359 49, with a permanent fund of $4,500. It was ordered that the tenth annual session should be held in the Second Baptist Church, Brooklyn, E. D. The following gentlemen were elected delegates to the State Convention, which will meet in annual session in Saratoga next week: Rev. Galusha Anderson, Rev. J. B. Thomas, Rev. J. D. Fulton, Rev. A. G. Lawson, Rev. C. G. Gurr, Rev. J. L. Folwell, Rev. Christopher Rhodes, and Messrs. John Westervelt, William D. Rankin, and Norman Andrews; and the following were elected a Board of Managers of the association: Messrs. G. Anderson, A. B. Capwell, E. T. Richardson, B. F. Field, J. W. Sarles, C. H. Dutcher, E. A. Hutchins, D. C. Hughes, C. Rhodes, T. Rambaut, R. F. Cole, C. I. Wrightman, D. Read, H. I. Anable, A. J. G. Hodenpyl. During the afternoon a number of reports were read and adopted, and after a short prayer the meeting was adjourned.

VERDICT AGAINST THE LONG ISLAND RAILROAD.

In the Court of Oyer and Terminer of Queens County yesterday, Judge Pratt charged the jury in the case of Hortense Gomein against the Long Island Railroad Company. This case was tried once before, and resulted in a disagreement of the jury. It grew out of an accident at the Westburg crossing of the Long Island Road. Mrs. Gomein, a widow, with her two sisters, driven by a boy, were in a covered carriage. In attempting to cross the track ahead of a train, the carriage was struck by the locomotive, the two sisters were killed, and Mrs. Gomein herself received serious injuries, from which she has not yet entirely recovered. The jury rendered a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $4,500.

THE TURF.

THE PIMLICO RACES.

THREE RACES AND A STEEPLECHASE YESTERDAY—FIRST CHANCE, RHADAMANTHUS, SHYLOCK, AND MINNIE MAC THE WINNERS.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 20.—The weather opened fine on this, the second day of the Maryland Jockey Club races at Pimlico. The attendance was larger than that of yesterday.

The first race was one mile, for all ages, for horses that had not won at Saratoga and Jerome Park since July 24; $350 for the first horse and $50 for the second. The following started: Ore Knob, O'Neill, Davis' Baywood filly, Vassal, Weatherby, Violet, First Chance, and Springlet. Before the start Weatherby sold at $525 to $310 for the field. In the French pools the same horse was the favorite, although there were those who had faith in Vassal, and the friends of O'Neill were sufficiently hopeful to buy him. A great deal of money was pooled. The horses got off well together, with O'Neill in the lead, First Chance second, Springlet third, Baywood filly fourth, Weatherby fifth, and Vassal, Violet, and Ore Knob in the order named. At the first quarter First Chance had gone to the front, with Springlet second, Baywood filly third, Vassal fourth, and Weatherby fifth. At the half-mile Weatherby ran up to the second position. On the upper turn there was no change in the positions, and the horses came into the homestretch with First Chance still leading by two lengths, with Springlet second, closely pressed by O'Neill, in which order they came to the finish, with Baywood filly fourth, Weatherby, Vassal, Ore Knob, and Violet in the order named. Time—1:46¼.

The second race was mile heats for three-year-olds that had not won a sweepstakes this year at Jerome Park, Long Branch, Saratoga, or Baltimore, for a purse of $400 to the first horse and $100 to the second, Jack Trigg, Greylag, Rhadamanthus, Arcturus, and Charley Cheatham started. In the pools Rhadamanthus was the favorite, although Arcturus and Big Sandy sold well up, and their friends stuck closely to them. Before the start Big Sandy was withdrawn. For the first heat the start was good, Jack Trigg leading off, with Greylag second, Arcturus third, Rhadamanthus fourth, and Charley Cheatham last. In that position they ran until getting into the back stretch, when Rhadamanthus took the second place, with Arcturus third, Greylag and Charley Cheatham trailing behind. On the upper turn Rhadamanthus began to move up, and before reaching the head of the homestretch he had gone to the front and came to the finish an easy winner, beating Jack Trigg two lengths, who led Arcturus three lengths, he leading Greylag eight lengths, and Charley Cheatham distanced. Time—1:47¼.

For the second heat Rhadamanthus was the favorite at four and five to one, although the admirers of Jack Trigg thought he might divide the heats and thus have an opportunity to win the race. At the close, however, Rhadamanthus sold at $500 to $25 for the field. After three false starts they got off well, with Greylag leading, Jack Trigg second, Arcturus third, and Rhadamanthus last. At the quarter-pole Jack Trigg went to the front and he ran up the backstretch with Greylag at his head, while Rhadamanthus and Arcturus ran together and close up. Before reaching the half mile all four were running in a string. On the upper turn Arcturus showed in front a quarter of a length, but Rhadamanthus closed the gap before reaching the entrance of the homestretch, and came home an easy victor, beating Arcturus a length, who led Jack Trigg two lengths and Greylag distanced. Time—1:47¼. Big Sandy was announced to start in this race, but during the preceding night he broke out of his stable and ran over the grounds, which rendered him unfit to take part in the contest.

The third race was a free handicap stakes for all ages, of $25 each, one and three-quarter miles, club to add $400 for the first horse, and $100 for the second.

Shylock, Merodac, Mattie A., and Rambler started. Mattie A. was the favorite in the pools, selling at $525 to $520 for Shylock, and $145 for the field. At the start Merodac led off, with Shylock second, Rambler third, and Mattie A. fourth. At the quarter, Merodac and Rambler, who had gone up, ran side by side, with Shylock third, and Mattie A. last. As she started on the upper turn, Merodac showed in front of Rambler a head, with Shylock third. At the judges' stand Rambler had the lead, with Merodac second, and Shylock third; but on the lower turn Shylock went to the second position, and going up the backstretch showed in front, and Mattie A., who made a dash, went to the second place, but on the upper turn she showed an inability to cope with Shylock. Down the homestretch Shylock opened the gap between himself and Mattie A., and came to the finish a winner by four lengths, with Mattie A. second, Merodac third, and Rambler fourth. Time—3:12. Going up the backstretch Rambler was cut down by Mattie A., who ran inside to the front of him. He was struck over the left fetlock joint, and rendered so lame that he quit the race almost as soon as he was struck. He was leading at the time.

The fourth and principal event of the day was a trial steeplechase, of about one and one-half miles, over a portion of the regular steeple course, for horses of all ages that had not won a steeplechase this year at Saratoga, Jerome Park, Long Branch, or Baltimore, welter weights; a purse of $400 for the first horse, $75 for the second, and $50 for the third. Storm, George West, Minnie Mac, Osage, Austral, Vim, Boz, and Busy Bee started. Before the start Osage was the favorite, selling at $450, while Storm brought $100, Minnie Mac $75, Boz $60, the field $320. The horses started well, George West leading off, with Storm second, and the others close together. At the third leap Vim bolted, and the others kept on, Storm leading, closely pressed by George West. The turn at the north end of the track was then made, and the horses ran south in a string, Storm still leading until he came to the earth wall near the club stand, when he bolted. Boz fell at the hurdle, before reaching the earth wall where Storm bolted, and threw his rider, without, however, doing him any serious harm. George West took the lead from the earth wall, but before reaching the track Minnie Mac pressed Osage, who had passed George West about the centre of the inner field, and both dashed around the upper turn, over the last hurdle, Osage leading, closely followed by Minnie Mac, with George West well up to her, and down the homestretch Minnie Mac went to the front, and came home a length ahead of Osage, who led Busy Bee three lengths, with George West fourth, Vim fifth, Austral sixth, and Storm seventh, Boz having gone out of the race when he fell. Time—3:20½.

PROSPECT PARK—THE $10,000 RACE.

The great match for $10,000, between William M. Parks' black gelding Prospero and James Weaver's chestnut stallion Honest Dutchman drew an immense concourse of spectators to the Prospect Park Fair Grounds yesterday. The race, however, was a great disappointment, and resulted in a fizzle. Prospero was the favorite at $100 to $70 over the Dutchman, and they scored six times before receiving the word. They got an even send-off on the seventh score, but soon after receiving the word Dutchman made a very bad break, and Prospero got a long way ahead. Pfifer could not get Honest Dutchman steady, and he again broke when midway round the turn. Prospero, in the meantime, was trotting at a tremendous rate, passing the quarter-pole in 34½ seconds, leaving Dutchman nearly a hundred yards behind. Prospero made the half mile in 1:08¾, and by this time Dutchman was 150 yards behind. On the lower turn Prospero increased his lead, and passed under the wire in 2:22½, Dutchman just turning into the homestretch and being two distances behind.

There were 556 mutual pool tickets sold on the race, of which 293 were on Prospero, and 263 on Dutchman, each ticket on the winner being worth $9.

RACE DECLARED OFF.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 20.—The dash of two and a quarter miles for the San Francisco Cup, advertised to be run at the Bay District track to-day, between the Eastern horses Springbok, Grinstead, and Wild Idle is off, the managers of Springbok and Grinstead declining to contest.

INQUEST ON THE MURDERED NEGROES.

An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner Simms concerning the deaths of Samuel Jackson and Henry Thompson, the two colored men who were killed by some white roughs while coming from a picnic at Schuetzen Park, Fifty-first street and Third avenue, Brooklyn, on the 15th inst. No facts that have not already been made public were elicited during the taking of the testimony. The jury returned a verdict to the effect that Jackson came to his death by fracture of the skull at the hands of John McGuire at the time and place mentioned, and that Thompson came to his death at the same time and place by fracture of the skull at the hands of some person or persons unknown to the jury. John McGuire, Matthew Dowden, John Hall, and Dennis McCarthy, the men arrested on suspicion of being implicated in the killing of the negroes, were all held by the Coroner to await the action of the Grand Jury.

ACQUITTED OF MALPRACTICE.

The trial of Prof. Julius Von Meyer, of the Eclectic Medical College, Dr. Theophile Weber, and Mme. Eliza Altenheim, a midwife, charged with manslaughter in having caused the death of Mrs. Ursula Wick, of No. 224 East Forty-sixth street, while attending her during her confinement, was concluded in the Court of General Sessions yesterday, the case having occupied five days in hearing. Judge Sutherland, in his able charge to the jury, directed them to find a verdict of not guilty in the case of Dr. Weber and Mme. Altenheim, the evidence not being sufficient to warrant a conviction. As to Prof. Von Meyer, his Honor said that if the jury were satisfied from the evidence in the case that his mode of practice and the manner in which he undertook to perform his professional duties were grossly ignorant, unjustifiable, inexcusable, and rash, they should find him guilty of manslaughter in the fourth degree. If, however, they had a reasonable doubt, they should give the prisoner the benefit of that doubt, and acquit. The jury retired at 11:45 A. M., and after coming into court once for instructions, returned at 3:30 P. M., with a verdict of not guilty in the case of all three prisoners.

THE MURDER IN COW BAY.

TRIAL OF WILLIAM DELANEY IN QUEENS COUNTY—DAMAGING TESTIMONY.

William Delaney, who was indicted for the murder of Capt. Lawrence, of the schooner Joseph E. Potts, of Port Jefferson, while lying in Cow Bay on the 27th of last August, was brought into the Queens County Court of Oyer and Terminer, before Judge Pratt, yesterday. District Attorney Downing conducted the inquisition for the people, assisted by Mr. Stanbrough, and Mr. George A. Mott appeared for the prisoner, assisted by Mr. Nostrand. A jury was obtained about 2:30 o'clock, and Mr. Downing opened the case for the people.

Charles F. Harris, the first witness, one of the boys who were on board the schooner at the time Capt. Lawrence was killed, was sworn. He had been in Capt. Lawrence's employ a little over a month; his mother owned a part of Capt. Lawrence's vessel; he saw the prisoner at Port Johnson, where he was shipped by Capt. Lawrence; the vessel was towed up to the Sound, starting from Port Johnson on Wednesday morning; on Thursday they sailed across to Cow Bay, where they anchored and lay until Friday afternoon; during the day Delaney was seen whittling out a gag. The witness then narrated minutely the occurrences of the Friday evening, and showed to the jury the manner in which Delaney held Capt. Lawrence down on the cabin floor while he put the gag in his mouth, the Captain struggling meanwhile to prevent it. The gag was shown and recognized, also the revolver taken from Capt. Lawrence by Delaney, and with which he subsequently threatened to shoot the boys if they did not obey him. The narrative, in its main incidents, corresponded with that given before the Coroner's jury.

The witness was cross-examined by Mr. Mott, who closely questioned him as to the making of the gag by Delaney. Witness thought it was intended for a gag because he had seen a friend make one some four years previously, while attending school. The other circumstances were closely followed out, but the witness' direct testimony was not impaired.

Jonas B. Paine, of Smithton, was next called. He was at Cow Bay on the 27th of August, on board a vessel near that of Capt. Lawrence; after the discovery of Capt. Lawrence's dead body he went on board the Joseph E. Potts. He described the condition in which the body was found. There were marks of a struggle in the cabin; a pocket-book was found empty on a stool in a state-room, and a hatchet was found near by. Witness subsequently went to Port Washington and called Coroner McKee.

Dr. Vandeventer, of Port Washington, was next examined. He was called upon to examine the body of Capt. Lawrence on the morning following the murder. There was an abrasion on the forehead, the skin was broken on the nose, and blood had run from each nostril. Death had resulted from strangulation.

Other witnesses testified in regard to finding the body of Capt. Laurewce, and to the identity of the prisoner, and at 4 o'clock the court was adjourned until this morning. It is thought that the case will be concluded to-day.

SPORTING NOTES.

The single scull race yesterday afternoon between Wilbur Bacon, of the New-York Rowing Club, and Richard B. Bainbridge, of the Atalantas, was won by Bacon. The race was rowed on the Harlem, two miles straight away, for a prize worth about $200. There was much betting on the result, Bainbridge being the favorite at long odds. During the race, however, he slipped his seat twice, and, of course, lost—undoubtedly to his own great astonishment. The spectators denounced the affair as one of the most barefaced swindles ever done on a rowing course.

An exciting boat-race took place yesterday afternoon at Gowanus, between Charles A. Morley, of South Brooklyn, and Richard McCormack, of Staten Island. The distance was three miles. The stakes $200 a side. The men rowed in 17-foot working boats. McCormack was the favorite in the betting, and did not disappoint his backers. He won the race by a length, in 27m. 40½s.

All arrangements were completed yesterday for a four-oared shell race, New-York vs. Washington. The race is to take place on the Potomac, at Washington, on the 27th. The crews will be a picked four of the Analostan Boat Club, of Washington, and a crew selected from the Nassau Boat Club, of this City.

The Chicago Club, and the Mutuals of this City, played a game of base-ball yesterday afternoon on the Union Grounds in Brooklyn. The following is the score:

	1st.	2d.	3d.	4th.	5th.	6th.	7th.	8th.	9th.
Mutual......	0	1	0	0	0	0	2	0	0	—3
Chicago.....	0	0	3	1	0	4	3	1	1	—13

This afternoon there will be a game on the Union Grounds between the Alaska Club, of this City, and the Olympics, of Manhattanville. To-morrow afternoon the St. Louis Club will play with the Mutuals on the Union Grounds. The same clubs will also play there again next Saturday.

A LIVELY CLUB COMBAT.

Patrolman Thomas Haines, of the Twenty-first Precinct, while lying in bed at his apartments in the tenement No. 514 Third avenue, on Tuesday afternoon, saw a man climbing over the temporary partition which divides the floor. The officer feigned sleep, and saw the stranger rifle a bureau drawer of a small sum of money deposited there, when he jumped from the bed and seized the thief. The latter proved to be the better man, being much larger and stronger than the officer, and had matters pretty much his own way. Haines, finding himself powerless in the hands of the burly ruffian, bethought him of his club, and called to his wife to throw it to him. Mrs. Haines in her excitement and haste seized two batons which were hanging side by side upon the same nail, and threw them both into the arena. The officer got one and the robber, of course, got the other. Then ensued a two-up-and-three-down combat which would have warmed the heart of an Old Bowery audience. Haines from the first had the advantage of his antagonist in point of skill and costume, (he being clad in the simple garb of a Roman gladiator,) and in a short time succeeded in putting in a lead-cut which stretched his antagonist insensible on the floor. Officer Haines then dressed himself, and after his prisoner had sufficiently revived took him to the station-house. He was yesterday arraigned before Justice Murray, at the Yorkville Police Court, to whom he gave his name as John Jones, and said he had no residence and no occupation. Jones was committed for trial in default of $2,000 bail.

FORGERY DETECTED BY A CASHIER.

Max Waldin, a tailor, and Samuel Parnson, a real estate agent, both doing business in Newark, N. J., were arrested by Chief Wambold yesterday for forgery. On Tuesday afternoon Parnson presented a note for $1,000 at the office of the State Trust Company and asked to have it discounted. George Webner, the Cashier, discovered that the signature of William Wendel, a Director of the company, which was appended to the paper, was a forgery. He did not make any disclosure of his discovery, however, but requested Mr. Parnson to call again in about an hour, telling him that the money would then be ready for him. In the meantime he informed Mr. Wendel, and that gentleman, on looking at the note, pronounced it a forgery. When Parnson returned he was accompanied by Waldin, whom he introduced as the owner of the note. Mr. Wendel went into the room and confronted the two men, when Waldin burst into tears and confessed his crime. The prisoners were taken to the station-house and locked up, but subsequently Parnson procured bail in the sum of $2,000, and was released. He claims that he was entirely ignorant of the forgery, and only endeavored to get the note discounted as an accommodation for Waldin. After he had been locked in the cell Waldin attempted to commit suicide by hanging himself, but the rope, which he made of his shirt and handkerchief torn into strips, was too weak, and he fell heavily to the ground, inflicting a severe gash in his head. He was afterward placed in a strait-jacket. Waldin was to have been married last night, and he had also commenced negotiations for the purchase of a saloon.

THE LADIES' IRVING MONUMENT FUND.

A regular meeting of the "Ladies' Irving Monument Fund Association" was held yesterday afternoon, at the residence of the President, No. 421 Fifth avenue. After a few introductory remarks by the President, the association held a consultation with the auxiliary organization, relative to the propriety of making the proposed monument a statue instead of a bust. After the consultation a committee of five, including the Presidents and Vice Presidents of the New-York and Tarrytown Associations, was appointed to definitely settle the matter, and to report its decision at the next meeting, on Nov. 3. The sculptor, J. Wilson McDonald, after making an appropriate address, exhibited five very beautiful designs for the proposed monument, the first being for a statue, including the pedestals and four bronze alligorical figures, costing $20'000. Four other designs were offered, the prices of which vary from $25,000 to $36,000. The latter design, having a very beautiful and elaborate pedestal after a celebrated design by Michael Angelo. It was announced by the Secretary that if the committee of five above mentioned finally decided upon a statue instead of a bust, such a decision would not at all interefere with the execution and completion of the Irving bust originally intended for the Centennial Exhibition.

CITY AND SUBURBAN NEWS.

NEW-YORK.

Commissioner Voorhis presided at the Police trials yesterday, and heard testimony in over fifty complaints against delinquent members of the department.

Mr. Frank P. Marsh, of this City, has been appointed Eastern Passenger Agent of the New-Orleans, St. Louis and Chicago Railroad, with headquarters in New-York.

Gen. Q. A. Gillmore and Mr. C. E. Worthen, of the Commission appointed to examine the North River sea-wall, began their work at the foot of King street at 11 o'clock yesterday morning.

The firm of Isaac T. Meyer & Co., importers of pearl buttons and fancy goods, No. 390 Broadway yesterday made an assignment in favor of their creditors to Mr. Fred. Lewis, No. 52 White st.

David J. Pollock, the proprietor of a hotel at High Bridge, attempted to commit suicide yesterday by shooting himself in the head with a revolver, and succeeded in inflicting a very serious wound.

Mr. William P. Stoddard, the Chief Clerk of the Engineer in Chief of the Dock Commission, yesterday tendered his resignation to the board. Mr. Stoddard intends engaging in business for himself.

The Booksellers' Exchange and Clearing-house will be opened this morning at 9 o'clock, at Clinton Hall, Astor place. A large attendance of publishers of this City, Boston, and Philadelphia is expected.

A few of the creditors of William B. Hunter, of No. 132 Front street, met at his office yesterday afternoon. Mr. Hunter presented a statement showing his assets and liabilities, but the figures were refused to the reporters.

Signor Bertolotto has now a troupe of 100 educated fleas on exhibition at No. 39 Union square. These insects have been trained to go through a variety of curious and interesting performances, such as dancing, drawing vehicles, telling fortunes, and other tricks.

The Union Trust Company of this City have filed in the United States Circuit Court of St. Louis, a bill against the Pacific Railroad Company of Missouri, and the St. Louis, Lawrence and Denver Railroad Company, of Kansas, to enforce the terms of a lease of the latter road by the former, at an annual rental of $60,000.

Yesterday a party of workmen engaged in removing the paper covering from Lienord's painting, the "Siege of Paris," at the Colosseum, were precipitated from a swinging scaffold, about eighty feet from the ground, by the breaking of a rope. Fortunately, they caught in falling upon the projecting ends of some planks a few feet below, and the entire party escaped uninjured. Col. Lienord, under whose personal supervision the work is in progress, said that he considered it one of the luckiest escapes from death he ever witnessed.

Herman Geil, who is well known to the Police, yesterday took a roll of French cloth, valued at $400, from the store of Mr. Leonard K. Smith, No. 252 Canal street, and shouldering it walked away. He was observed by one of the proprietors, and was immediately followed. Seeing that he was pursued Geil threw down the cloth and ran off. Information was at once sent to the Franklin Street Station, and Capt. Lowery detailed Officer McKenna to capture the thief, which he did within half an hour. Being questioned at the station, Geil admitted that he was a professional thief.

BROOKLYN.

The centennial reception in aid of the Brooklyn Maternity will be given at the Academy of Music on Tuesday evening, Nov. 9. It is the great social event of the season in Brooklyn, and the names on the different committees having charge of the arrangements include those of the first families in the city.

In the case of Walter Westlake against Owen Tully, in which the former sued the latter for $10,000 damages for assault and battery, the jury gave a verdict of $6,000 for the plaintiff and five per cent. counsel fee. The allegation was that Tully, while riding in a Myrtle avenue car on the 29th of April last, assaulted Westlake without provocation and bit off his thumb from the first joint.

NEW-JERSEY.

The Hudson County Democratic Convention meets to-day at Franklin Hall, Jersey City.

The Coroner's Jury in the case of Michael Goodwin, the aged resident of Jersey City who was supposed to have been kicked to death by his sons Thomas and James, returned a verdict that deceased came to his death from violence at the hands of his sons. The accused are confined in the County Jail awaiting trial.

Patrick Madden was arrested in Jersey City yesterday for committing an assault and battery upon Mrs. Coyne, his sister. It is charged that he knocked her down, kicked her and jumped on her, and it is feared that her injuries may prove fatal. The prisoner is held to await the result of her injuries. A short time ago Madden was convicted of assault and battery on a man named Barney Reynolds and was fined $50, while his brother, who was implicated in the same case, was sent to the State Prison for two years.

NEW BRIDGE DEDICATED.

NEWBURG, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The village of Walden, Orange County, to-day celebrated the completion of the bridge over the Wallkill River replacing the one carried away by the ice-gorge last Winter. The new bridge is 180 feet long. There were 4,000 persons present. There was a procession, embracing the Fire Department and other organizations of the village and a portion of the Newburg Fire Department. There was also a banquet, speeches, &c.

THE CANAL BOARD.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 20.—The Canal Board today made a personal inspection of the work on the Erie Canal between the lower aqueduct and Port Schuyler, but did not return in time to hold a session.

WOULD YOU SAVE LIFE?
Then, keep a box of DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR always at hand. Many a child has been burned to death that might have been saved by it. 25c.—Advertisement.

WEBER
PIANO-FORTES

NILSSON. I shall take every opportunity to recommend and praise your instruments.
KELLOGG. For the last six years your Pianos have been my choice for the Concert-room and my own house.
LUCCA. Your uprights are extraordinary instruments and deserve their great success.
PATTI. I have used the Pianos of every celebrated maker, but give yours the preference over all.
STRAUSS. Your Pianos astonish me. I have never yet seen any Pianos which equal yours.
WEHL. Mme. Parepa called your Piano the finest in the United States. I fully indorse that opinion. They have no Rival anywhere.
